To keep it short,

I trade crypto full time, its my main income outside of some other small passive channels. I also do consulting in this business.

So thats it ask me anything. I'm sure some people have questions.

i had an account in the past with around 3K followers but honestly stopped. First did some analysis wich was just one giant shill boy maget, after that i posted trading lessons that I learned each week. But shit was getting anoying so i deleted it.

I got like $20 BTT $10 BAT and $20 Cindicator aswell, just so i dont have everything in 1 coin, id be happy if they go up a few dollars but my main focus are HOT and NPXS. But it seems that i always buy coins that have no action, and i want to get into day trading too instead of just long term.

I missed the boat on ENJ, so thats sad.

Im in a discord group to expand my knowledge, and ofcourse reddit. What do you suggest for me to learn if i want to day trade, or just to become better in general.

This was kinda all over the place but yeah.

Yeah, no shit haha.

I sold off my BTT, BAT and NPXS because magically i was left with less PundiX in my binance than i can remember, so decided to sell the rest and read into a different coin and bought some of those.

Are you up or down for the year?

i actually made more money this year then last year, my capital grew so big and now i short a lot + use leverage

i do a mix of techniques for example i scalp & swing on coins i try to accumulate a lot from for example nano, my goal is to have a big bag of that soon

When i use high leverage for example on litecoin i use a 8x leverage with more sell orders placed if it rises(positional). for example on this coin my avg buyin is 1413 current price 1445

Well since you want questions, I will ask a few more since I am curious.
What do you recommend people should do to research coins more accurately?
What do you think about bittrex.

Gym 4 The Mind - March 12, 2019, 1:06 pm

Correct me if I'm wrong.
You said you lost the 3.7k because it hit your stop loss?
You must have a pretty decent balance to afford a stop loss at 3.7k?

Most people have their stop loss around 1%, 2%, going from that logic with stop loss at 2%, your total balance would be around 185k.

So now my next question is, if you don't have your stop loss let's say at 2% of your balance, whats your risk management like?

bittrex doesn't have a lot of liquidity people should start learning the difference between a HQ coin and a shitcoin

i have made a lot on XRP that's why i say it's great for trading but the fundamentals are so fucked up weak.

Why is bitcoin & other cryptocurrencies important? What is XRP? Aside of the bank BS it's just a centralised database and the top 100 wallets of XRP are holding 95% of the coin this is why people lose money, you can speculate that a price is going up or down. But you have to follow the market not try to predict it

Also would love to share my insights but not gonna do it since a lot of people will just blindly follow my advice without thinking about it + i can change my mind very fast you need to speculate in this market that is a fact, but you need to have your own reasons on buying a coin its not because someone told you to buy a coin or its been looking good that you need to buy a coin

How do you know to not buy a coin? Look how many people are like hey if you don't have this coin your missing out, well that means that coin is about to drop for example ENJ most of my money i reinvest, some goes into the trading budget, some goes to longterm, waiting for a list of stocks to drop to buyin cheap (dividend baby), investing my own company.

Some small money goes to fancy food or other pleasure moments but only a small portion.

a yes this puts a smile on my face! finally a post that actually lets me help a person!

Yes trading can be stressfull as hell it is true. Aslo if you use leverage you are paying a higher fee.
for example you can have +5% but still lose money bc you lended the money for a bit etc etc. So just look out with fees

Now about the stress, I can't give you a magic formula that will work. I just got over it by showing my balls and getting back in the market everytime i get kicked in the fucking nuts. Even took me to a level where I could not fall asleep and even puke because of the stress.

Best advice i can give you with this is. Get your TA. Put your sell/buy target, put your stoploss and put your take profit and now you stay the fuck away from it. you will not touch your orders. You can just place an alarm to go off once it hits your SL or take profit. Try to not look at the price anymore after that.

Hard to do but its the best advice i think i can give atm

I don't give signals, but this was my life reaction when i saw "i think we are going to 5500" don't take this as a bearishy or bullishn signal. We are currently at 4783.3$ on bitmex.

Trade at ur own risk

also thx i'm happy you are someone who is asking real questions

Do you recommend Leverage trading? Anyway to have a win-win situation with two accounts betting on both sides?

I feel you, Fuck knows what's really going to happen that's one thing I've learnt in 5 years of trading the shit ANYTHING can happen.

And I just ment overnight, My target is 5500 then come back down then up etc etc, I'ts getting there it's holding strong. you can pick quick money up with this shit, Just gotta be fucking carefull.

anyone else got onto trading futures/contracts? that previously wasn't involved. it's worth a shot like i said i don't give signals or give my opinion to others on request advice i can give though is:

Let your winners run with a stoploss in the profits. for example i bought a lot of NEO at 9.10 and have now its 12

but i have a SL so that i still will have massive gains

I feel ya man, I think you're picture fits this situation nicely. ?

Yeah trading with SL are the sure way to go.

Its not possible on bitmex, to place a sell limit

Then a stop loss is it, as the same time? I cant see it being possible thought id ask though..

Nano - April 3, 2019, 4:12 pm

lots of people asking should u do leverage trading experienced people will get insane profits others will lose it all. It takes a lot of skill itsmemario - April 5, 2019, 12:38 pm

I got a question.

So i put x10 leverage right, 1000 contracts.

Say i have 1k i can only buy 1k contracts then you go to margin 'add contract' then i add 1k worth of btc assigned then it says %100 used at x1 leverage.

Now how does that work im trading/risking at x10 leverage but my contract margin is only 1000 contracts x1.

The only way ive actually got to trade with their borrowed money is clicking x10 leverage

Then say i have 0.20 btc roughly i place an order then to get the 'leverage' i have to do another 10 fucking orders, like i have 0.20 place a long then it goes 0.19 then 0.18 all the way until i have nothing, the problem with that is that cost a lot of fees.

Im confused and need this cleared up, much appreciated if you have 1K and are leverage trading with 10K you need to buy 10.000 contract for a long Tbh idk the fee system out of my head of bitmex,

Yeah but what i'm saying is.

I only have 1k right, I click x10 leverage but I can only purchase 1000 at a time, Then my balance goes down like 0.01 then I have to buy another 1k, then another 1k, then another 1k, costing like 0.002 fees or something idk but I know it adds up.

It's retarded, I don't know what i'm doing wrong tbh. Going to watch a few more videos again see if I can figure it out.

Underworldproblem - April 6, 2019, 4:17 pm

1 contract = $1

So at 1x leverage, you have 1000 contracts.

At 10x leverage, you have 10,000 contracts. (1000 contracts * 10x leverage)

there is not a single good source that makes you go from 0 to hero just try it, fail and repeat thats all it is
