Finished my first deal on here successfully with 0 issues and no complication, full professionalism. Very happy

Not really a brag but something I'm proud of! :D ?

Believe it or not, there are actually a lot of legitimate and reputable people here on the forum. I am glad that your first deal went smoothly!

Since I joined everyone has been nothing but nice / professional / friendly toward me. I have no complaints with this forum. I've used the contract system, read deal disputes, I know how to not get scammed, by using a trusted member in the marketplace that is known for middlemanning deals or having large amounts of successful deals.

I'm really enjoying my time here so far!

dealing over internet isn't always safe, especially with large amounts, he must be 12 years old to be happy for a deal without issues?

24, but I am happy to say that I'm having nothing but a good experience on this forum and that the whole community has been wonderful towards me so far.

Don't get carried away bro or you will learn the hard way that you can trust a computer more than you can trust a human being
