40$? For how much time?

Be clear enough since those kind of subs can do daily subs

I typed MONTHLY to the title but since it is not clear as I thought it would, I added "monthly" after the price :)

I don't know this man, I am the salesman of this cheat on Hackforums. I asked directly to the developer what is this screenshot about and he said exactly : "This guys is probably one of our clients and he is trying to sell his personal login to others to make money " when we gather enough information we will suspend his account and we will take more precautions to be sure that single login used by single user.

Thanks for letting us now.

Suggest you do research into your "developer".

what are the odds amirite, guy literally pasted my thread on another forum. Buyers beware. Vouch, int main() is the original developer of the cheat. He and I work together on the project. I'm confident that he's the original developer as he's been adding functions as I request them, sometimes within minutes.

Suggest you rethink this course of action before you get a bad rep for (re)selling... I don't even know what this is. A cracked version? SMH.

It's nice to know people think our cheat is good enough to warrant cracking it and selling it.

The video in the post above clearly shows "your" hack.

So does the video here:

The cheat, at its most basic level, doesn't even have a "personal login" system - users are identified SOLELY by their HWIDs. "Sell his personal login"??

What utter bullshit.

Also, as int() main stated above: <https://prnt.sc/mwm8kb>

I can't mention the website's name, due to HF's policy about not advertising other websites that might be considered competitors, but if you search the text I'm sure Google has crawled it and indexed it as a result.

I just rewatched the video on this thread. Whatever cracked version of our cheat this guy is selling doesn't seem to have distance ESP or healthbars... or they're disabled in the video (but why would you make a video that doesn't show everything the cheat can do?)

Here's a screenshot I just took that shows distance and health ESP.

For anyone wondering, the menu can be toggled on and off (visibility toggle).

Kindly review the evidence I've just given and contact me if you have any questions. I'd appreciate this thread closed. I will take this to a Community Alert if no action is taken.

I'm currently investigating the problem here, if you are right I will close the thread right away.

Seems entirely reasonable. Cheers, let me know if you need any more information from me - glad we can resolve this civilly and not resort to a "who said what" virtual shouting match.

Seems like my "developer" cracked your cheat and rebranded. Sorry for the issue. He just blocked me on Discord xd closing the thread
