Thread: Poisoned chicken strips

ASLR - March 13, 2019, 9:31 pm

I got chicken strips at a fast food place 30 minutes before they closed. I'm worried they poisoned my chicken strips in retaliation for coming to get food late. Felt funny right after eating them. Hope I don't die in my sleep from chicken strips.

They may just not be sitting right with something else in your gut. Fast food is some volatile shit. Take some Tums if you have them.

What? If they wouldn't want people eating there 30 minutes before they close they would close 30 minutes earlier no?

SanctualProductions - March 14, 2019, 1:12 am

They did not poison your food worst thing they would have done is spit in it lol

Update: I did not die from my chicken strips.

I once heard a horror story of a fast food employee cooking chicken in degreaser right before closing for a customer. That shits scary.

I'll just stick to chic fil a and avoid lesser fast food stores ;)
