

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Rule Against Disturbing Threads

irving.gp - March 18, 2019, 2:11 pm

Hello. I have seen users who only enter the threads to harm the seller, without any evidence accusing the seller of selling a garbage method or a public method.

I do not know if there is a rule for this but in other forums I have seen that there is this rule, and with all due respect I say; in this forum I have not seen the moderators do anything about it.

Riyu - March 18, 2019, 2:14 pm

Just report the post. If staff deems that it's sales trashing then it will be removed

Zexi - March 18, 2019, 2:15 pm

(Mar 18, 2019 02:11 PM)irving.gp Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hello. I have seen users who only enter the threads to harm the seller, without any evidence accusing the seller of selling a garbage method or a public method.

I do not know if there is a rule for this but in other forums I have seen that there is this rule, and with all due respect I say; in this forum I have not seen the moderators do anything about it.

Just report the post as a marketplace violation and they will be dealt with. That's fucked up to say considering you don't even realize how much work it actually is moderating so many sections and checking on who knows how many reports daily.

Two-Ton 21 - March 18, 2019, 2:17 pm

(Mar 18, 2019 02:11 PM)irving.gp Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hello. I have seen users who only enter the threads to harm the seller, without any evidence accusing the seller of selling a garbage method or a public method.

I do not know if there is a rule for this but in other forums I have seen that there is this rule, and with all due respect I say; in this forum I have not seen the moderators do anything about it.

Yes there is a rule against this, it's called sales trashing. But you would have to report said post, essentially snitching. Snitching is worse than sales trashing. ???

irving.gp - March 18, 2019, 2:18 pm

(Mar 18, 2019 02:15 PM)Zexi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Just report the post as a marketplace violation and they will be dealt with. That's fucked up to say considering you don't even realize how much work it actually is moderating so many sections and checking on who knows how many reports daily.

I understand, but I mean there's an explicit rule prohibiting this. In this way the moderators would relieve their burden a little as many would be inhibited from making reckless comments on the sales threads. And that it is clearly visible as well as the warning that hackforums is not responsible for the sellers.

Vince - March 18, 2019, 2:24 pm

(Mar 18, 2019 02:18 PM)irving.gp Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I understand, but I mean there's an explicit rule prohibiting this. In this way the moderators would relieve their burden a little as many would be inhibited from making reckless comments on the sales threads. And that it is clearly visible as well as the warning that hackforums is not responsible for the sellers.

Because you know, everyone follows rules to a T. Just report it and move on. That's all you can do.

NERO - March 18, 2019, 2:39 pm

I didn't want to post because i didn't really think it justified my input, But after reading the OP's post another 3 times iv come to the conclusion that he's a snowflake.

If your feeling harmed by other members comments on the internet then disconnect your internet or unplug your lan cable, Or slap your goat with his satellite attached to his saddle and then lie down and cry until you feel better...

Once your better turn your wifi back on, Or plug back in your lan cable OR go make up with your goat that you slapped then realise that you shouldn't bring feelings onto the internet.

SIM-403479 - March 18, 2019, 2:43 pm

I had someone accuse me of exit scamming and selling a leaked method when he hasn't even purchased. I reported the post but it wasn't removed. Just ignore them if they don't get removed. There's probably a fine line between what's classed as sales trashing and what isn't.

Omniscient - March 18, 2019, 2:44 pm

Fucking moron. Closed.