

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: A report for multiple bugs in contract.

RCE - March 19, 2019, 10:00 pm

I just noticed something I don't know if its normal or not.

Bug #1:

Scenario:

if a person A started a contract with person B then person B won't be able to start a contract with person A (for another thread for example) until the first contract gets denied /accepted.

Bug#2:

Scenario:

If person A added person B in his ignore list, person B will still be able to start a contract with person A.

Bug#3:

Scenario:

If person A and person B added each other in ignore list, also both will be able to start a contract with each other.

Hope it fixed.

Regards ?

Riyu - March 19, 2019, 10:03 pm

First one isn't a bug. Either xerotic or Omni made a post about it I believe

RCE - March 19, 2019, 10:04 pm

(Mar 19, 2019 10:03 PM)Riyu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) First one isn't a bug. Either xerotic or Omni made a post about it I believe post the link here please.

Riyu - March 19, 2019, 10:08 pm

(Mar 19, 2019 10:04 PM)Shad0Byte Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) post the link here please.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5946658&pid=58329724#pid58329724>

RCE - March 19, 2019, 10:12 pm

(Mar 19, 2019 10:08 PM)Riyu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#)

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5946658&pid=58329724#pid58329724>

I'm not saying person A cant open 2 contracts with person B , what I'm saying is person A cant start a contract with person B if person B has started one with person A.

Bear - March 19, 2019, 10:17 pm

(Mar 19, 2019 10:12 PM)Shad0Byte Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm not saying person A cant open 2 contracts with person B , what I'm saying is person A cant start a contract with person B if person B has started one with person A.

Yes, the idea is one deal at a time to help stop contract abuse.

RCE - March 19, 2019, 10:23 pm

(Mar 19, 2019 10:17 PM)Bear Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes, the idea is one deal at a time to help stop contract abuse.

Yes i understand, but what if Person A is selling multiple services like (Programming service and homework service , and selling IG checker) and person B want to buy all services at the same time?

Bear - March 19, 2019, 10:31 pm

(Mar 19, 2019 10:23 PM)Shad0Byte Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes i understand, but what if Person A is selling multiple services like (Programming service and homework service , and selling IG checker) and person B want to buy all services at the same time?

I remember Omni saying that he will consider making that exception for vendors or something once I brought it up recently in a thread. I guess people who need it need to voice about it more.

RCE - March 19, 2019, 10:34 pm

(Mar 19, 2019 10:31 PM)Bear Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I remember Omni saying that he will consider making that exception for vendors or something once I brought it up recently in a thread. I guess people who need it need to voice about it more.

Adding an exception for vendors would be great, I hope it to be implemented soon.

DamienVC - March 19, 2019, 10:43 pm

Bug 2 and 3 are the same. They aren't really bugs either. If anyone abuses the contract system by spamming false contracts I'm pretty sure action will be taken.

RCE - March 19, 2019, 10:46 pm

(Mar 19, 2019 10:43 PM)DamienVC Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Bug 2 and 3 are the same. They aren't really bugs either. If anyone abuses the contract system by spamming false contracts I'm pretty sure action will be taken.

It's nearly the same but in a different condition, but ignore list is designed and coded to prevent dealing with the member that has been added to the list, that's including messaging, viewing profiles, showing posts(except pressing in show button) so logically it should prevent them from starting a contract too.

Omniscient - March 19, 2019, 11:19 pm

#1 is not a bug.

Not sure #2 is a bug. Ignores are one-way actions. If you're on my ignore list but then I want to create a Contract with you, I suppose that's fine. The intent of the ignore is to have a way to prevent someone else from making a Contract with you. So I'm going to say this is not a bug.

Quote:If person A and person B added each other in ignore list, also both will be able to start a contract with each other.

Really? Well, that's a bug. Likely some logic issue in the php.

Quote:Yes i understand, but what if Person A is selling multiple services like (Programming service and homework service , and selling IG checker) and person B want to buy all services at the same time?

They should do a custom Contract or just do one deal at a time. I'm not sure your scenario happens with any frequency. I'd even dare say it sounds like a rare instance.

RCE - March 19, 2019, 11:24 pm

(Mar 19, 2019 11:19 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) #1 is not a bug.

Not sure #2 is a bug. Ignores are one-way actions. If you're on my ignore list but then I want to create a Contract with you, I suppose that's fine. The intent of the ignore is to have a way to prevent someone else from making a Contract with you. So I'm going to say this is not a bug.

Really? Well, that's a bug. Likely some logic issue in the php.

They should do a custom Contract or just do one deal at a time. I'm not sure your scenario happens with any frequency. I'd even dare say it sounds like a rare instance.

Thanks for your elaborate, but what if I want to prevent someone from creating a contract with me? like someone is banned from buying services because he violates TOS.

Dark - March 19, 2019, 11:26 pm

(Mar 19, 2019 11:24 PM)Shad0Byte Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks for your elaborate, but what if I want to prevent someone from creating a contract with me? like someone is banned from buying services because he violates TOS.

You would ignore them according to my understanding. That's what omni means by the "one-way interaction". You block them from taking action against you.

#Skyline - March 19, 2019, 11:29 pm

(Mar 19, 2019 11:24 PM)Shad0Byte Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks for your elaborate, but what if I want to prevent someone from creating a contract with me? like someone is banned from buying services because he violates TOS.

You don't accept it.