I've been hearing a ton about hack forums ever since I started making money online (about 2.5 years now). Just recently I decided to go ahead and join the community. Not sure why I waited this long because I've clearly missed out on a ton.

But in summary I do dropshipping, social media marketing, and programming to generate an income online. So you'll probably catch me engaging in those sectors of the forum.

It's great to be apart of the community :)

Thanks guys.

I'm curious to know how the reputation system on here works, like the star ratings and rankings and whatever else there is. Could someone link me to it?
