This is an obvious scam. You copy / pasted this from a website known to have scammed users on this forum.

Fuck off will ya.

Anybody interested in this can PM me I will link them to the page where you copy/pasted this from.

I saw this exact same product with same description, literally copied/pasted, over 2 weeks ago being sold for $900. It is still on the same website, being sold, and has the exact matching description in your thread.

You can not weasel your way out of this. I can not post the link directly to this scamming site because it will only bring them more attention and possibly other users get scammed as well.

But anybody interested in this PM me I will send you the link and you can view for yourself. You can not say they copied you because they have a YouTube channel where they posted this exact same matching description WEEKS AGO.

Fuck off will ya

Do not think you can get away with it I took screenshot and have evidence against you. If you try to open another scamming thread on this forum I will just warn all your customers to take extra precaution. You should not have posted such blatantly a copy of a scam. How could you even believe this exploit to work????

I never saw the thread but you should really put a community alert in about this user.

I will be monitoring him for some time, I have a list of known scammers who are still members- and I keep up on them daily to watch their activities.

The problem with this is that the user may have not knowingly been trying to scam. He may have seen this, came across it and wanted to purchase it. It is being sold on the website for $900, the OP is selling for $1500. So he likely can not afford it, wanted it, and also wanted to make a profit off it. So he decided to try and resell to make an extra buck. This is likely the scenario considering he said he would use middleman.

But regardless even if someone uses a middleman, it would be a huge waste of time because the same website selling it has been reported by 4-5 other users this past month who have been scammed. And assuming OP was not trying to scam, just a fool, he would have gotten scammed himself.

Either way this user should not be trusted at all moving forward on this forum ? you got added to my list dawg

No problem.

Just understand that reselling other products for $600 extra is a scam of it's own. Don't try to rip off members of HF and maybe people will like you.

Pretty much but don't worry about it. When I first came here I was desperate for rep shared a MSN tool that I had been using. Turned out that the coder was on the forum and my sharing his cracked work didn't go down too well. Live and learn.
