Thread: No notifications for quoted messages

? Heisenberg ? - April 3, 2019, 8:07 am

Hey guys.

Anyone else facing this issue?

From some days I ain't getting any notification for my messages quoted in various threads..

S2K - April 3, 2019, 8:32 am

I don't face with that problem but I have another one related with this: When a user on my ignore list quote a post I made I get a notification, I don't want to receive a notification from my ignore list and that's why they're on my ignore list

Hopsin - April 3, 2019, 10:57 am

Everything works fine!

Go here <https://hackforums.net/alerts.php?action=settings> and check your settings.

They are all marked :)
Not sure why it is happening.

Everex - April 3, 2019, 1:55 pm

For me its working fine.

Im just registered, but i got a notification about reply to my message. Deleting cookies / re-log and other things will not help here i guess.

Do you run any kind of addons/scripts ?

These are all the add-ons I have in browser..

I don't understand how the browser can effect.

Every other notification is working fine, other than quoted messages. :)

These browser extensions have been with me for long time xD
Notifications were working well some days back.

lol , looks like this will remain a mystery xD

How it can affected: Example, some anti-script addon may block specific actions such as Quote Alert Notifications and so on. (On purpose or by mistake)

Try using "safe mode" on your browser (without plugins/addons) to see if it works.

Okie.. Can try that out. Can you quote me somewhere other than my own thread to test it? :D
Thanks for all the help :)

That does seem like something that would be moderately annoying. You should make a post about it. Use some screenshots if need be. Surely having a notification setting to block notifications from Ignored users could be implemented.

I got a notification now that you messaged in my thread rather than you quoted me.

Im in safe mode now :)

I still don't think it's the browser.

I can use Firefox and check once?

If the safe mode failed, try using other browser. Also, make sure you have cleared your web cache, cookies etc.

In case you have access to another PC, try logging in to HF via that PC. Furthermore, you may try logging in using your smartphone.

Let us know the outcome.

Im on a new browser now and don't see any quoted message notification..

Or do you need to make a new one to test again? xD

Sorry for all the trouble.

Unless the notification is marked as "Read" AKA Viewed Alert, I don't need to create a new post to quote you.

Oh. Then , I don't have any notification.

I believe it has something to do with my account lol

What are the next steps I can take?

Replying to this from my Android.

There is no notification at the moment. Can you make a new one?

Maybe we can check one last time.

Can you post on one of my threads so I can quote you there for testing purposes?

If it will work again, then your PC have some kind of issues which we can resolve this a bit later.

Grr.. Sorry for wasting your time mate.

No point reporting bugs for alerts.

Omni and Xerotic are working on a in-house notification system from scratch because MyAlerts is crap and buggy.

Just wait it out

The only issue is, I'm not sure whom to contact now for this issue :D

If you can't fix it, its server side issue but that's not the case since it works for me and almost everyone else. But... it could be server side issue for very (rare) few people, maybe some kind of bug. Server side issues can be only fixed by admins.

You can contact admins but that can be very risky, something like gambling haha. They can either ban you, warn you, ignore you for wasting their time OR... they will help you out to solve this. By the way, If I am not mistaken you can also use <https://hackforums.net/contact.php> which is safer (less-risky) than to PM admins directly. In some rare situations, admin(s) may fix it and comment (in this thread) or contact you to see if its fixed for you.

P.S My suggestions/current reply do not represent official statement(s) nor means they are legit or invalid, my suggestions are based on personal opinion.

Hope you resolve this soon, mate. Have a nice day ?
