He's been arrested lmao for trying to do a heist at Telstra Australia.

Dude had around $400k in bitcoin apparently. Here's your lesson boys and girls, use HF as a platform for learning - stop throwing us all under the bus.

Five counts under the CMA

Apparently they used other users on HF as proof to backup shit like profiles and emails from conversations he had with them.

Money laundering

Also apparently sexual harm prevention order lmaoooo

It's not hard when girls can claim all kinds of crazy accusations. It's really fucked up at this point. Does it happen a lot? No. Does it happen? Yes.

It takes away from girls who were actually assaulted. Those kind of charges are becoming more and more common. It's scary.

What a moron, swapping is the stupidest sh*t you could possibly do. Will get you in absolute huge trouble and also is completely morally wrong.

After checking his profile, I can almost promise you that these two threads played a huge factor in his arrest:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5768885> - clear evidence

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5821770> - because of how nice this @ is, even more evidence

Also after checking his username elsewhere I found even more evidence that this is all true, all signs point to it anyway.

Moral of the story, don't do stupid sh*t on the internet (s)kids! Unless you want to meet big bubba that is.

Okay, this is where it gets too far. This dude had his fu*king parents help him transfer around $250k worth of crypto from his wallet during the trials. His parents then subsequently each got 3 months (mom) and 5 months (dad) in prison for their part. So not only is this kid putting his parents through hell, making them go to the court dates I'm sure, but now he quite literally sent them to jail. His parents. Idk about you guys, but hell, that'd be enough punishment for me right there that I wouldn't even take an extra toothpick from the restaurant after that lmao.

Truly fu*ked up.

Reminds me of the booter crack down phase.

However this is a much needed crack down. Morons out here literally stealing peoples hard earned money for all they know, not cool.

Swapping? Care to explain what that is? And yeah, he sent his parents to jail. Can you imagine having a kid then 19 years later he gets you both a record?

You KNOW he was lying to them. Saying that the money was legit, or at least implying that it was legit. What a moron. Truly, not a smart kid.

Just, not a smart kid. Sure he knows how to play the internet, but if you think about it, it's not that impressive. This kid has a whole world available to him and he figures out how to play people, scam people, and thinks highly of himself. But the fact of the matter is that he's in jail and will be for a long time. And then after that, he will be watched for possible fraud again.

He will have a record, and will not be able to ever find a white collar job. Because the charges include fraud. No company would touch the fuc-king idiot with a 10 foot pole.

He didn't pull some Kevin Mitnick shit. He pulled some indian scammer shit. Mitnick got hired because his crimes were social engineering. This fuc-king kid is a thief.

Unfortunately swapping is a very prevalent thing right now in certain communities, HF is not one of those communities though. I can say this with confidence.

I won't go into detail about what it is here, however just read through these two articles and it will more than explain it for you.
