Price: $100 (1 month All Sports & Crypto & Premium)

Members: We are accepting 3 more beta testers.

Description:

We have developed an advanced tool, with the help of several skilled developers, to identify mistakes made in the bookmaking market. Whenever a bookmaker accidentally places a bet above the market value, our server will detect this and immediately notify our users via email and telegram. This allows our users to login to the bookmaker offering this price and place their bet. It doesn't guarantee that they will win - But it guarantees that they have an increased edge over the bookie. This means that in the long run this method is profitable for our users. We are currently in the process of tweaking our service and building our small Telegram community to allow our users interact with each other as our Telegram Bot posts the various mistakes it identifies in bookmaker's odds throughout the day.

Q: Is this illegal?

No, bookmakers offer you odds at their own rates. This means if they make a mistake and offer odds on a bet, which is actually higher than the probability of the event occurring, then that is the bookmaker's mistake. Due to the nature of this, bookmakers are usually very quick to remove these mistakes, which means our users should be actively seeking the opportunities if they wish to profit.

Q: Is this so profitable, why don't you keep it private and become a millionaire?

Yeah, we tried that! Turns out if you have an account that is making huge amounts of money from a bookmaker, that they tend to ban it. So we've been banned from a lot of bookmakers when we used this same method, but automated it to automatically place a bet, so that the bookmakers couldn't change it before we placed the bet. Needless to say, they figured out what we were doing, it still wasn't illegal though.

Q: Will I get my account banned?

So long as you don't massively abuse this, there will be no reason for the bookmakers to ban your account. The bookies usually ban the accounts of people who win every bet. We don't win every bet, far from it in fact. Our win rate is somewhere in the region of 15%-30% but due to the fact that our average bet is around 10/1, we easily profit from it. Furthermore, we spread out our bets across a range of different bookmakers. This means that you won't be making huge amounts on any specific bookmaker, but rather a small profit on a variety of them. In fact, you may even appear to be down money on some of them, depending on how the bets fall.

Q: What is this beta/trial period?

We're not finished the bot. Currently we are posting the bets into the Telegram group, but the format of the posts along with the user experience is not as perfect as we'd like it to be. We are simply looking for feedback. There are some big changes coming which will make this entire method way more profitable for us, and we're excited for it, but in the meantime we need to fix up the Telegram group to prepare for our launch. After the launch we will be focusing on monthly subscriptions to our service, and the price is likely to be much higher. This current beta period is only being offered for Hack Forums members, as we are planning to offer our service on Hack Forums in the future, and wish to build a good relationship with the community here. And besides, hackers make for great beta testers!

[contract=tid]Start Contract[/contract]

Note: As you may see, we always give tips of high return value. Meaning we expect to lose most of the time, but we should hit them 1 in every 3 or so. Because they are all @ odds like 20/1, 10/1, 5/1, etc, we make massive profits when we do hit it. You can see a simple $16 bet below returning well over $200.

New project. I have only finished automating parts of it, sorting out a spreadsheet for keeping track of results as I write this and trying to clean that up... Still in beta at present but I should have a rough estimate based on a few results available soon.

Elitas - April 7, 2019, 3:16 pm

A very successful day today! Some overall decent profit and we have also implemented a tracking script to keep track of our win rate, among other statistics, which will be used to show members what we have to offer.

Offer of $10/month still stands but I'm going to be increasing it to $20/month soon.

Edit: I need to figure out a way to show spreadsheets here. We are showing a profit of $200 today for one of our testers from using our tips.

Patriot - April 7, 2019, 9:57 pm

You should just make a google doc and track the results there. Since this is unproven, I doubt you will get any sales for the time being.

I am interested but will wait to see how you do.

That's what we began work on yesterday, it's currently keeping track of all results and giving a standard bet based on our "likelihood" counter.

Our odds offered are usually only with a specific betting provider, as we will deem their odds to be higher than the "market value". No trials for the moment since I'm working on the spreadsheet so I think those results should be enough to show anymore members, plus I got a few others testing it out.

Bets are posted to the Telegram as we identify them. Which means you can expect around 1 bet per hour. We are trying to improve the quality and lower than, it's somewhere around 25 bets per day ATM which works out close to that on an hourly basis, but bets are posted 24 hours a day, round the clock. Once a bet is posted, it should be "redeemed", or in other words you should complete the bet, within around 30 minutes. We would encourage users to ensure the odds included with the bet on the Telegram channel is the same odds they are getting on the betting site, otherwise they have updated their odds and the bet is no longer valuable. Due to the nature of the bets, I would say most of them are based on live games, but I think there was some issues with live games changing too fast so that may have been omitted from our trial runs over the past few days.

We only accept BTC and PP.

I need to sort out some public spreadsheet, but the original $200 profit was not based on all bets, and I believe they had varying bets throughout the day, so it's not a statistically accurate representation. I'm awaiting the results from the new script which is tracking the progress, I should post them tomorrow if I get the time.

The current test account we are using went something like this:

Deposit of $10 - Lost it all.

Deposit of $15 - Increased to $200.

Deposit of $150 - Increase to final balance of $450.

So overall a total investment of $175 turned into $450. Doesn't sound that good, but consider that the account only recently deposited the $150 in order to scale operations up and hopefully get into the thousands in a few days.

I know this is not proof or anything, currently by betting partner (on this project) is working on making an accurate log of his winrate and various other statistics. I'll try to get screenshots from betting sites, but due to the nature of these tips, the bets are cast across multiple betting sites.

Indeed I did own Mafia, and also a previous betting group known as OG Betting which had about a hundred members. I want a similar community out of this. But it's not the same tips as those that were offered in OG Betting.

anything99 - April 9, 2019, 9:24 pm

Actually getting bet history from all the different sites used is not hard..

A spreadsheet is good for keeping record but it does not proof of bets made if u know when i meant..

Just like betperfectpro, they posted very good results spreadsheets on their site, with odds mostly above 2 but after some members bought the package, their record become going down & odds mostly 1.7-1.8.

before results went bad, i ever asked them for betting proof & they said the same thing, they bet on a few sites & there are others bets so they cannot provide.

There something called screenshot & photo edit in this world.

Just my 2cents..

Am interested in the service, would love to try it out when there is proof of member using it (not by words) or bet history..

As previously mentioned, the nature of this is predominantly 'good odds' betting. Meaning they're not exactly tips that we think X team is going to win, but rather that we believe X website is offering odds better than it should be, to the point that it's worth betting, and profitable in long term.

In the end, there is going to have to be some element of trust. But I assume there will be some vouches posted here once the service is finished. This $10/month offer is only for beta testing, but the odds should be just as good.

Lol, there was a cap on the number of people I could allow into The Mafia.

And this is a telegram group. If the group grows really big and I have a lot of users from the forum, then I'll have no problem getting a subforum, or even an entire group, and implement automatic bet posting via the HF API, assuming that is possible in the near future.

Elitas - April 17, 2019, 10:18 am

Thanks to those who have booked the trial membership @ $10/month. I am still accepting 3 more trial members before I close it. Each of them will be given 1 month access for $10. Afterwards I am going to be increasing the price and we will officially launch.

This is really a great deal, we're only allowing 5 members in total to join us, and it's to test our our current posts and give us some advise as to how we can improve the user experience. I am sure each of these beta testers will continue as full members at the end of the trial period, as they will see just how easy it is to profit with us...

If you have any question, feel free to PM me!

nicbtc - April 17, 2019, 8:40 pm

Do you provide this for BTC bookies?

Elitas - April 18, 2019, 4:27 am

Unfortunately, our bot does not watch BTC bookies. We can potentially try to add this in the future. But remember that we find errors/mistakes in specific bookies, so even if we did support BTC bookies, it would be rare that the error would be in them.

To give you an idea: We currently "stalk" all bets offered on across 20 different bookies. We can detect the normal market value of these bets based on other bookies. Our bot is fast enough to identify these mistakes just as they are posted. We get around 10 of them posted to the Telegram group each day!

It varies hugely which bookies make the mistakes. But usually Bet365 and Betfair seem to make a lot of mistakes when posting their bets, and commonly leave incredibly good odds up on small games when they are first posted to their site. They usually change these odds to reflect a fair market value after around 10 minutes. So you need to be quick and have funds prepared to get the bet at the high price.

EDIT: With that being said, it's pretty easy to buy funds on your betting accounts using bitcoin! I know a lot of major bookies actually accept it as a method of depositing your funds. But even still, you can probably find someone to exchange it for you.

Ice - April 18, 2019, 5:50 am

You say bookmakers gub from win rate but I know for a fact 99% of bookmakers this isn't a case so just a heads up you might wanna change that bit.

Either way it shouldn't be a bad thing, people who are scared of getting gubbed on bookmakers are looking at it so wrong, it's a good thing if you start getting gubbed.

Yeah, I guess it's probably more accurate to say you get banned based on how much you are profiting from it. But if you seem to be losing a lot, they tend to not ban you so quick from experience. Assuming you're profiting the same amount, that is.

Trapstar S - April 18, 2019, 6:17 am

Pretty sure it's all automatized for what limits you can put on, soon as you reach a certain threshold then it goes to manual review. If your a winning player though you do get banned in the end no matter what.

The list is very long, and differs depending on events. For example, we don't bot events which are hosted by only a few bookies. We require at least 5 or so in order to determine the market value accurately. In general, we accept all major bookies. The most common bookies we have the value bets for, are the ones which make mistakes the most. Seems to usually be Bet365, Betfair, SkyBet and a few others like that.

Yeah, but at least we do spread out wins out across multiple bookmakers, which is kind of helpful to circumvent that in the short term.

Replied! :)

EDIT: By the way! We offer a free trial. Meaning you can get an invite for a few minutes to the group, take a look around, see what happens there and try to understand the logic behind our bot. No commitments, no pressure, just a look at how we operate our group.

I know it's just a few minutes to look around, and you won't get to see much action, but it should be useful to a lot of you out there who are considering this product. I know the description is kind of vague, and I'm trying to be transparent. This is not one of those products where I say it'll make you rich but you never know what it is until you purchase. This is a subscription service, we can't profit from this by ourselves, so PM me and I'll drop you a free invite to take a look at our methods.

Ehh maybe. Depends how many bets we get on BetFair. We just got a bet from BetFair a few minutes ago. We probably get around 1 per day from BetFair on average.

A lot of our bets are high return, low chance of occurring, but still valuable! This is why you want to be doing a lot of them.

We haven't been running the group long enough for me to definitively tell you if it's be worth your time. It also depends on how much you wager. If you're betting small amounts then the $10 charge for the month will probably nullify the profits you make.

Anyway, we just sold another slot so that means there's 2 left.

Elitas - April 20, 2019, 3:28 am

Just a quick note that we are now offering our bets on a range of sports. We have also began development and are rolling out an accumulator algorithm to improve value on each bets. By taking a double on 2 good valued bets, you can marginally decrease your chance of winning, but exponentially increase your profits. It's something that could be worthwhile and we're working on it!

The best thing about this group is that the bot gives you the bets. So you're not relying on anyone to come home and post them, where mistakes can be made, etc. We are accurate, cheap & profitable.

Please do not hesitate to contact me. We have also begun development of support for American bookmakers. If you are having trouble registering on the bookies we include, then that should help you still gain value from the group! We're also about to add some BTC bookies (CloudBet?) which should make it easier for people too. We'll then begin monitoring those bookies for similar value trends.

We're only accept 2 more beta testers. It's $10 for the month. You are getting a service which is, honestly, worth way more, and we'll be increasing that subscription price at the end of this month.

I can give 1 or 2 spots to people as we only just filled our last spots, but I will have to put a stop to it soon, as we intend of launching fully once all these beta members' subscriptions are finished. We are going to decide on a price, I'm sure most of our current members will be happy to pay it using any profits, but we're going to keep it relatively high to keep the bookies blissfully unaware of us.

In other words, for the next few days I'll allow more members for the $10. After this, I'm going to be increasing it to a temporarily higher amount for members, and then we'll begin to revise that amount once we have seen exactly how profitable this has been for the entire month.

Sadly at present we're only supporting the major European bookmakers, which are all listed on websites such as Oddschecker. We have plans to add support for crypto in the future, which we're beginning development on at present, and will be rolled out around the same time that we fully launch and decide on the higher monthly price.

It's actually one of the most common ones which we get bets for. Still, only accounts for a fraction of our total bets, so you're not actually able to bet on all of them, so it may be kinda slow for you to earn/missing out on some of the really high value bets we get. It's really up to you, but it would be ideal if you could register for the other bookmakers?

Yeah i'll have to wait for crypto sites to be supported

Elitas - May 4, 2019, 6:21 am

We are no longer accepting beta members. The new price will be $50 and I'll be updating the thread soon. We are currently not accepting members, but will be opening up @ $50 per month soon.

Elitas - May 5, 2019, 10:07 am

Service is about to be reopened, just organizing the 'packages'.

1. Soccer Betting Group - List of profitable bets on soccer games (will include support for crypto betting sites, but value on them sites is rare).
2. Horse Racing Betting Group - List of profitable bets on horse races (quite a lot of value here). This package includes access to Soccer group too.
3. Premium Group - List of the best profitable bets across all sports, massive value to be found. This package includes access to both Soccer & Horse Racing groups.

We intend to also maybe make a group for full-time bettors, which shows a list of ALL profitable bets across all sports: ~500 per day. We're giving you access to our data. We can make it possible for you to interact with our API on this sort of "developer" package, so that you can implement it into scripts in order to automatically place the bets to make profiting all the more easier!

Soccer betting group will be $20 per month. Horse racing betting group will be $50 per month (includes access to soccer group). Premium betting group will be $150 per month (with access to both soccer and horse racing betting groups).

If anyone is currently interested then please contact me, I'll be updating the thread soon with all the information. We are consistently releasing new features and revising our algorithms for maximum profits. To get an idea, we currently have the following features:

- Ability to locate a fair market price for a bet (used to find bets which are significantly better than the true market value).
- Ability to scan multiple European bookies as well as 6 major crypto betting sites.
- Ability to scan across multiple sporting events.
- Algorithm to determine the ideal betting unit, which is calculated by prioritizing bets which are more likely, which allows you to customize based on your bankroll to ensure that you do not run out of funds if you hit a bad streak, but still remain easily profitable and scalable.
- Documentation regarding betting, how to approach the bets, what the output of the bot means and how to use this in order to place your bet.
- Advice from a small, but knowledgeable community of fellow bettors who have already profited from this group and are experienced.

- 24/7 server scanning for bets to catch them the moment a mistake is made by the bookies. This is useful to make it incredibly user-friendly and easily be notified of any profitable bets which occur throughout the day.

Some features which are just around the corner:

- Email notifications (optional to all users).
- API for members to use in order to interact with our data using their own scripts.
- Web panel to allow users to potentially automate their betting using our own coded scripts.
- Support for US bookies (we're still trying to get a list of which bookies US people use, or are at the very least available to them).
- Improved servers to post the bets even faster, and allow users to control how the information is outputted to them.

Elitas - May 7, 2019, 3:53 pm

These groups have now been created and we are now accepting members for:

$20/month - Soccer + Crypto

$50/month - Soccer + Crypto + Horse Racing

$100/month - Soccer + Crypto + Horse Racing + Premium (All Sports, highest value) + Every single valuable bet found across all sports.

These separate groups allow our members to select value. Soccer seems to have a fair amount of value, but nothing too crazy. With horse racing as we've seen recently, doubles have come in @ 250/1 odds, which is a 250 return per $1 bet.

The premium group will additionally be hugely valuable. We're keeping it under the locks ATM at the highest price, as we want to keep it small. This scans across EVERY major sport, and finds the highest valued ones (with crazy high value/ROI!) and then prints them into the Telegram group. Furthermore, the all sports group which prints every single valuable bet across all sports, even with thin value, is also pretty useful for those looking to make a job out of this, and pick out some value.

I recommend starting on the lower packages to work your way up and gain a trusted relationship with us, not expecting anyone to commit to $100/month straight away. => Upgrading your package comes at no extra cost! If you're on the $20 package, you can upgrade it to Horse Racing one for $30 extra, or the Premium one for $70 extra that month, however the month does not start over and only lasts as long as your current subscription.

I'll be updating this all to the thread once I finalize everything and get a thread design.

Really interested in this. However, i saw you use several betting sites.

- Have a list of them to register? Cause may im a member of 2-3 and will never get a profitable odd like the rest of them.
- And, im from S.America, still not sites available for us?

Thanks and GL

Yes, but they're not very profitable as we only support 6 crypto betting sites and only Soccer and Basketball sports. So we have a very small amount of high value bets, but can still make a decent profit from them.

We have crypto bets and lots of other options for US members. Just not as valuable as people in UK who can access our services fully. Depends really! Some US people had absolutely no issue signing up for them but others weren't able to get much more than just the crypto bets.

Because the average odds are greater than 5/1.

We hit a 500/1 only a few days ago, bookies listed it as 500/1 for just a few seconds and we picked up on it, one guy noticed it and got the money on, before they corrected it back to 5/1.

Low win rate, but wins are big.

Every dollar you bet, you're getting $500 in return. If you see odds like that, Vegas (or the bookie) is suggesting that obviously this happens less than (or equal to) 0.2% percent of the time (never). If he's betting typical games that are 1:5 odds (your $1 vs. bookie's $5) then you would only need to win 20% of the time to break even. Gambling at its finest here, but at least he's not betting 5:1 lines like most people on this site.

I haven't tried his product, just providing insight as I'm in the betting and poker world :)

Wouldn't most bookies have an option to cancel a 500:1 bet, as it was clearly a mistake error? (their T.O.S. more than likely contains something about this)

It has already been released. We're open to people now, and we currently have a pretty big off-site group.

The HF group is empty now as I've not been advertising it on here, but we still have a few members who are going to be rejoining yet again, it's always been working.

Yes, sometimes the bet is cancelled but rarely. For extreme cases like that, it would be likely canceled, but for less extreme cases (10/1 odds on a bet that's true value is 5/1) they wouldn't bother cancelling individual bets.

Usually the former happens in live betting, where big mistakes are made and cancelling bets like that is bad practice and will lose the bookies their customers. We obviously tell people not to bet too high stakes as you can risk having your account limited. It doesn't happen very often to us though because our lose rate is higher than our win rate, which apparently bypasses most bookies' detection systems as they're not looking closely at the actual profit margins.

One of our members cashed out a huge profit yesterday! He picked up a 2/1 bet being offered at 9/1 odds and put $500 on it (set to profit $4,500 if it came in). The bookies then corrected the error and he cashed out the bet for a $1,400 payment with no risk at all!

I can provide some screenshots of proof of the above at request, and I'll try and get some spreadsheets of our betting history available when I find the time.

2-3 betting sites is usually enough (out of the 15 or so we support).

You have as much time as it takes for them to correct the mistake.
Usually around 15 minutes.

Also I got banned recently on one of these sites, so beware.
Placed too much money on an error, they paid me out but then limited my betting allowance. So I profited a few thousand $. :)

Thanks

We stopped keeping track during the quarantine as the administration decided it was too risky to bet on any tips. Tips were still coming in though. We've only started back up again today. We've always had a bad winning rate, because we mostly bet on high odd events. We find events with high odds and we determine/calculate their true market appreciation. From that we can see if it's good value! Then we simply log them and they then get posted to our group. Our ROI has been high. Many of our users have been banned from bookmakers for earning too much in the past, which I guess is a good problem. We've been devising tactics to bypass this and working on helping people avoid being flagged by bookmakers.

Elitas - June 17, 2020, 10:16 am

This is still active BTW, albeit most members are not from HackForums.

Lots of bets, and with sport returning, it's only going to get better (pun intended)!

Big E - June 17, 2020, 10:26 am

(Apr 5, 2019 12:22 PM)Elitas Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Q: Is this illegal?

No, bookmakers offer you odds at their own rates. This means if they make a mistake and offer odds on a bet, which is actually higher than the probability of the event occurring, then that is the bookmaker's mistake. Due to the nature of this, bookmakers are usually very quick to remove these mistakes, which means our users should be actively seeking the opportunities if they wish to profit.

Just as a side note, most bookmakers have T & C's that say if they've made a clear error in pricing they reserve the right to settle the bet at the correct odds. So if they make a true mistake, usually they will take the money back. Sure, sometimes some bookmakers offer slightly better odds, but surely you're not charging $100 for a service that's just finding the highest odds on any particular game? (which oddschecker does for free)

Not trying to trash your sales, just genuinely asking. Would be good to know if you yourself have ever had the problem of a bookmaker trying to resettle any bets you've made using this method.

No, that's not what we're doing. We don't provide odds on just any game. Think about the anomaly. Where most bookmakers offer an event at 10/1, even some at 8/1, and a single bookmaker has it down as 18/1. That's clearly much better than the market average. This happens a lot as you pointed out, there's always a 'best odds'. We just look for games where the best odds are disproportionately greater than the mean odds being offered. It's proven to be extremely profitable, and we scan across virtually every sporting event across most major bookmakers to determine which ones have given good odds.
