lol you kids and your pixels

Elysium - April 6, 2019, 9:24 pm

I believe it is supposed to be viewable. It has been like that for as long as I can remember.

Not donation awards.

You can't. see any of the past donation award recipient lists such as GA.

Again, I believe it is supposed to be viewable. Perhaps not for donation awards but I don't necessarily see it as a problem.

How it matters if they are viewable or not?

Dorrance - April 7, 2019, 12:09 am

Cant believe y'all fussing about see awards

I feel like It was private for a reason before...

all donation awards prior to these new ones were private. idk the reason, but they were. that's why I made the thread

? Please mate. It doesn't have to be that level of mico-management.

Well, you can see the awards of users below their avatar. I guess it makes sense that it's viewable.
Wasn't here long enough tho so I can't say if that's always been that.

Evanescent - April 7, 2019, 3:28 am

Why do you want it hidden?
Isn't it good to see who is supporting HF?

Dragosthethird - April 7, 2019, 5:33 am

Omni previously closed the donation lists so people would stop trying to figure out how much money he was making. I know there is a semi-old thread about it. Since he recently made these donation awards he likely ended up forgetting to close the lists.

Cooligan - April 7, 2019, 10:47 am

All of the donation award pages were once view-able in the past, however Omni changed that to where we're not able to now for most donation awards.

I assume because the pages were absolutely huge because of how many users were loaded per page. Say 'Emerald Donator' for instance. When I first signed up this list was view-able, and VERY long as well, now that it's not view-able I would assume load times and the overall server load would run smoother. Sort of the same thing with taking away the ban.php feature for ub3r's.

edit: Looks like Omni saw this thread and just fixed it.
Those award recipient lists are no longer view-able.

Done. Thank you.
