Welcome to my thread!

I have been programming for over 4 years now and professionally for about 2 years.

Here on this forum I have worked with many users and developed some bigger softwares that have been sold here.

For me this is a journey where You learn new things everyday. You just don't stop one day, You keep exploring for more knowledge and this is the beauty of programming.

Development

I would love to give You the best service You need and deliver the product You desire!

- Create a portfolio website?
- Bot that will make Your life easier?
- Update Your current website?

Well then You came to the right place!

The most important thing for me is to bring quality and performance to the product I deliver... not just basic functionality.

Tutoring

Maybe You want me to share my knowledge with You? I am not a trained tutor whatsoever but I believe I have a knowledge and desire to teach You what You need!

I offer a tutor service for beginner programmers that wants to get into coding world or want to improve their skills.

Pricing

Prices will be discussed individually depending on project difficulty and time it will take!

Important

- I will not code any malicious software.
- I want to have a detailed talk with customer before taking any job. I need to know for 100% that I can deliver the product and the time will allow me to.
- I am taking only small-medium sized projects as for now since I don't have enough time for big ones.

Contact

To start a contact send me a pm! After that we can switch to discord to make it easier to talk about project.
