The problem is that you're not able to navigate to the sent messages folder in the same space that every other folder is able to be accessed in.

Not sure if this is the right place.

But it's quite annoying.

If there could be a fix?

What's the problem? Empty your sent messages folder and you're good.

Or selectively delete messages you don't want there, you don't have to empty it all.

It's a bit inconvenient that I can't just move to it in the same space as the rest of the folders.
