

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Jobhip's proxy selling service-I sell your product for you!

jobhip - April 9, 2019, 6:32 pm

Have something to sell but don't have the member status here or the time to sell it? That's where I come in. Simply pm me and we can work out a cut for both of us, and I will sell your product or service for you. However; I will need to get to test said product/service myself as I will be putting my reputation on the line. After we agree on a rate via pm we will open a contract here both agreeing that I'm allowed to sell your product and that you get X amount of money for each sale. [contract=tid]Start Contract[/contract]

Kagome - April 10, 2019, 10:54 am

This post makes you seem like a Uber Leech looking for free products and money smh

The correct saying would be they'll find the amount of money they'll give you for each sell since it's their product.

jobhip - April 10, 2019, 11:34 am

(Apr 10, 2019 10:54 AM)Kagome Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This post makes you seem like a Uber Leech looking for free products and money smh

The correct saying would be they'll find the amount of money they'll give you for each sell since it's their product.

Not sure why you think that...but I'll address the wanting the product part first, I need a copy of whatever they're selling first for myself because I want to know for a fact that what i'll be selling works. I don't want to end up selling something that doesn't work. As for the amount of money.. I'm fine taking an offer that's fair. In fact; I'm not sure why you think that I plan on setting rates myself. I plan to listen to the offer of whoever pms me and most likely accept it if it's even close to fair.

P.S. If it's software, I'm fine even just having a 1-2 hour license for myself. As long as I have a fair amount of time to make sure it works we're all good!