Thread: Can someone please help this newbie

Jcashallday - April 15, 2019, 10:50 pm

Hey everyone .. Is there any site can trade my gift

Cards without the $1 credit authorization? I don't have a CC and I just really want to trade for an amazon so I Can spoil my newborn daughter Emily. Thanks a million

As far as I know most places don't even require a CC, any normal debit card should be fine.

Also, regarding begging for 'cash' here, go n read the Help Docs about that, way better to post it as a trade for "small services" or something like that ;)

I don't feel like OP is "begging" for cash in his post. Still it is good to read the Help Docs.

CC authorization are for verify only, most of them will not charge your cards.

Relax dude, you ain't getting nowhere acting like this.

Calm down and let's hope someone will help you. I don't have any knowledge about this otherwise I would've helped you.

Classy my ass, if you would stay classy then you wouldn't have even said any of the things before stating that you'll stay classy. And speaking of reading, did you read my comment at all? -I guess not since you completely ignored it, so I'll say again, it's like paypal back in the days "required" a CC but it worked fine with literally any "debit card". Below is a quote for you to read again...

EDIT: oh and back then they literally took $1 from the account just to check that it was a real card and account...
