Thread: Wouldn't Omni be proud?

F.A.S.T - April 25, 2019, 11:13 am

I just figured this out that this Forum is under constant surveillance from the Feds. Real hackers have been arrested here! more than a thousand people are registered here! MIRAI was released here! This is something amazing. A feeling that sends chills down your spine. Knowing you run a Legitimate Community of Computer Enthusiasts. Simply Amazing!

Slankey™ - April 25, 2019, 11:15 am

Took you long enough, little late to the party but good job for figuring it out just haven't.

Google Carderprofit.cc, HF was nearly sold to an undercover FBI agent and when he couldn't get this memberbase the fbi just made their own carding website.

London Police have an account here.

Wouldn't be surprised if the fbi/nsa have API access of some kind.

Also didn't help that blackshades got its popularity here.

Yeah that was for sure a major point in the feds coming over here.

that whole era of BS

Yeah, you did, huh? how exactly did you "figure" that out?

F.A.S.T - April 25, 2019, 11:18 am

Right from the start I had this feeling that this isn't the place to show off about your Black Hat Activity. I even have seen mentions of this Forum on the Underground Darknet forums.

I was reading about some Hackers who got arrested for their Creations.

I can't find omnis thread explaining it, but yes it happened. A member by the name of maver1ck wanted to buy hf for 40-50k. Omni signed that contract and agreed. Backed out at last minute and refunded 30k to the guy, setup carderprofit.cc for the fbi supposedly unknowingly it's all on krébs

Any site that is on the clearnet is probably not a good idea to show off anything.

Mr. Robot - April 25, 2019, 7:20 pm

It's a clearnet forum - if Omni was breaking a law, he'd do his best to fix it and continue on. He does what he can to stop what can't be on HF and that's all he can legally be required to do.

This is a community, not an underground operation where we are targeting things. It's about learning and moving forward.

It'd be nice if all this site was was a community. Unfortunately though it has turned into more of a popular market for eBooks, shit software, and saturated ideas. The most knowledgeable part of this site is probably the Life section and the code section lol. The other sections now I feel like are flooded with retards and people trying to spam their sales thread.

Then stay out of the market tab. I often post short little tutorials - what do you want? A fully automated script to hack websites? Sure. I'll get right on that.

"Then stay out of the market tab"

Why would I stay out of a place where money is flying around constantly? Even if I wish this site was more community based, it still won't change the fact that it's really not. And I am content with that, thus I use the marketplace to my advantage. Not to spend my money, but to make money. It's not rocket science and it's a good rule of thumb.

What do I want from you? Nothing. Never wanted anything from you, not even a response. As for your short little tutorials, congratulations. I haven't had the pleasure of watching any of them.

"A fully automated script to hack websites?"

Well shit, of course that'd be nice buddy. You should get right on that.

I think that your response to my original comment is a bit.. idk.. not constructed and processed well? You failed to realize that I was actually agreeing with you. I was just adding the fact that yes, this site has some sections that resemble a hotmail.com spam folder. But every once in a while you find sane individuals that aren't completely retarded, they're just misguided. Including yourself thinking back a couple weeks ago when you were promoting the conspiracy of a collusion with Russia. But I get it.. we are some times misguided and make mistakes. Cheers

The site is primarily focused on the market place right now not because a real drop in activity elsewhere but because the marketplace has jumped in popularity and activity.

If you stay out of the marketplace you wont see them and will be left with everything else the site has to offer- same as it ever has.

It's not a good idea to show off ANYWHERE, to be fair, it's just a vulnerability no matter where it is.

A big part of starting to understand Omniscient's viewpoint when running HF is knowing how/why HF was created. HF started in 2007 and back then Omniscient had a large network of smaller websites. He had (has) many domains and on each one he created a forum/website directed at that topic. HF happens to be the one out of dozens of websites of his that took off in popularity beyond the rest. There was never an intention to create any type of "safe haven" or illegal website for blackhats. It's a business venture like any other and he complies with the law. Any website that receives a subpoena is subject to the order of the judge and HF is no different. However, Omniscient still cares about the community. He will fight for the community's protection and favor where and when he is able to. If you are interested you can read HF's legal policies here:

<https://hackforums.net/misc.php?action=help&hid=12>

Source: I've been HF's full time developer for a little over a year and I've been an active member since 2010. I was Staff in 2011. Then I was a Mentor after Staff for years until I became Admin a little over a year ago. I also did minor MyBB plugin work for Omniscient at his website MyBB Central in 2011/2012. I'm as heavily vested into HF's community as any member.
