Thread: AccountBot.sh News Update & Announcement

flavoral - April 27, 2019, 2:15 am

I was able to get in contact with FamousHater who is one of the owners of "AccountBot.sh" and asked me to post this announcement for everyone to clear some things. I'm not affiliated with the site.

To whom this may concern regarding accountbot.sh.

Would like to start off by saying a big thank you to all of the users that joined the site and purchased accounts for themselves or to resell.

What started as an idea to change the NFA market did that so much more then we could of ever imagined as it's the biggest thing to hit the NFA section here by far.

I see lots and lots of theories on what happened to the site. Please do not believe any of them as none of them posted here are accurate. What happened will be kept private out of respect for Tslam.

So for now the site will continue to be down. May come back at some point. That's undecided and will be at our discretion if it comes back.

Im sure with the amount of success the site saw you will see copycats etc but for one they won't be auto replacement nor built with the quality that accountbot.sh was done with as the site wasn't done overnight. Took a lot of hours to accomplish. So do NOT be fooled into someone claiming they have the next accountbot or that their site is just as good as accountbot.sh as I will promise you it WILL NOT BE.

I would like to give a huge thank you to the 2 staff members we hired. Will always be remembered for the dedication and long hours they put into the site:)

Much Love to both of you <3

Also have been made aware a user here by the name of "Raymond reddington" has decided to purchase a domain close to our original domain of accountbot.sh. Me and tslam have NO AFFILIATION TO IT and will NOT be responsible when you have a bad experience. Its a bullshit move as he knew exactly what he was doing when purchasing that domain so once again THAT IS NOT US. Just some retard who wants to capitalize on the success of accountbot.sh which won't be happening.

Thank you once again to all the loyal customers!

hopefully this clear some theories that have been posted.

Accounts4U - April 28, 2019, 1:23 pm

Shocker of a post. How about starting the message off with something like this.

"Apologies for screwing over our loyal customers. We kind of knew our service was struggling, but we carried on milking it for every penny we could. We are ignoring all our loyal customers whilst we figure out our next money maker."

Don't get me wrong, accountbot was a great idea. As someone who sells accounts myself I know it can be hard getting high stock levels which is what they needed but struggled with. Sometimes you just want people to come out and be truthful. All this post tells me is that his ego is clearly not affected from what has happened.

"What happened will be kept private out of respect for Tslam." whats the point of this thread if you won't explain shit what happened to that site, that's what everyone wants to know

?Apocalypse - April 28, 2019, 4:11 pm

Really not looking good.

Fucking loser to make such an irrelevant post. Makes me want to buy 100 different domains similar to his and claim it to be the revamped version. Because his dumbass ego is clearly bothering him more than the people he screwed over.

I know people invested alot of cash into this. And it really annoyed me they carried on taking cash up until the last day.

Really wasn't expecting a "my site is better than this guy's site" post. If the law is involved just come out and say it. He's still cracking as I've seen him searching for configs

Deal - April 28, 2019, 10:11 pm

Thanks for the update flavorful.

However, I'm happy I was not a customer. Because this is more of a "thanks for buying our product, no one else are better than us". Than an apology to the customers for closing from one day to the other.

So should I expect a refund for my purchases done in btc? lol, let's call it what it is, a scam.

Just because you mentioned my name here, I'll address a response. I'm not even affiliated with the project other than representing it to an extent as a favor.

- First, you are reposting this as if it even matters. It actually doesn't. AccountBot.sh is dead and doesn't exist anymore

- Almost every NFA seller has "warranty" and "replacements". So auto-replacement isn't really a unique concept. Sure AccountBot.sh may have been the first auto-replacement site, but it doesn't mean it will always be the only. There were other NFA sellers before and way after AccountBot.sh collapsed.

Also, I was informed AccountBot.io has been in development for several months, so I can definitely assure it wasn't created in a single night or weekend.

- I can confirm auto-replacement is 100% functional. I am also informed videos will be up demonstrating that soon. Purchases are also protected by HF's contract system. Currently the site has 13 functional modules, and more on the way.

- It is ironic that you guys were quiet for over a month, UNTIL you noticed the release of AccountBot.io. What about all the customers who contacted you for refunds & support till then? No response. But the people behind AccountBot.sh come out of hiding to tell their customers not to use AccountBot.io? Why shouldn't they? For all its worth, AccountBot.sh are being called exit-scammers in the NFA scene. The only 'bad experience' here that people have had, is with AccountBot.sh.

- AccountBot is not a trademarked name, so anyone can take it. AccountBot.io is not the first site to come out, and the people behind it make it seem definitely like it is destined to be larger than AccountBot.sh

- Honestly anything is better than AccountBot.sh at this point, since AccountBot.sh ceased to exist over a month ago.

I doubt anybody really cares, the fact that you posted this just proves how low you are stooping and how you treat your customers. You ignored them, and decide to come out with this response? Try again.

Pretty much hit every possible point in your response. They have blanked loyal customers for over a month and refused all refunds. The only way people are getting refunds are through charge backs. I haven't seen this guy offer any refunds from his pocket.

Accountbot.sh has no business coming back. In my eyes, they need to come out and apologise for the way they have treated customers. Very poor, if i was one of the admins, they would not be allowed to advertise their service here again

Why you talking as if I'm involved with them? I was curious like everyone on what happened to tslam, you can even see that from the thread i started in yjr Vendor subforum.

I just got my hands finally in contact with him and asked what's happening. He told me it's private, so i said alright. I ain't gonna spam the dude to tell me what's going on. He then asked me to repost the thread. Now everyone can come to their own conclusions.

I have no skin in this game, it's all entirely irrelevant to me, but I don't like this point at all.

AccountBot.sh may be dead, but if I was AcciuntBot.sh, when someone new comes to the table, entering the same market and stealing my branding, then it's my duty to inform my customers that there is no affiliation and that the new site is just trying to bank off of what I had built.

Sure accountbot.sh wasn't registered, but they still built a brand that they are entitled to protect. If someone wants to come in, copy their branding to try and profit off of it, then I encourage them to fight back against it. It's a shitty practice.

Who cares about the shitty practice, they went dead, their fault, whoever comes first gets served first.

AccountBot was the only site I've trusted to buy accounts. It was sad to see it no longer exists. The announcement was also a good move by the team. Hopefully we'll see it come back.

You're either missing the point or have some sort of bias on the subject, either way your reply sucks.
