Thread: With Two SRPP Groups Can We Expect Public Debates?

Thornzzz - May 14, 2019, 4:38 am

With Ahri purchasing Famous and branding it to a SRPP group like Dawn I was wondering if we could get some public debates. I think it'd be interesting to have some debates between the groups and get some genuine conversations started. Thoughts?

I don't speak for everyone in Dawn but I can't imagine Ahri's SJW group will bring much challenge to the top dogs of Dawn.

I'm not even sure if they're serious about being an SJW group, or if it's just a meme. Only time will tell.

That would definitely be interesting, but knowing Ahri. the new group won't take itself too seriously and I guess the debates would end in a shitshow.

If it is a serious project I'd definitely be willing to participate!

Thanks for informing us beautiful.

even if the sjw group isnt just an sjw group, I think it'd be nice to have some Dawn debates. They don't need to be live shitfights within a thread, but probably better off with some structured responses with timeframes ect. Just in a public forum.

I'll get onto Night Fury about this :P

I hope that the two groups could collaborate and debate with each other without any issues. This would honestly be awesome. This would be better than projects - simply just debate every week or so.
