Sociopaths - Specialised Recruitment

We live in a world where unique qualities define us. For those bound to strive for success I invite you to apply to Sociopaths.

I am currently offering 3 positions for members who wish to set themselves out from the rest. Whether it be dedication to your craft or service to your country, if you go above and beyond in your life I would love to offer you membership in our group. I am strictly seeking members who excel outside the forum with professionalism and class.

Requirements:

1. Full-time employment or meaningfully self employed.
2. Coherent in English
3. Aligning characteristics with those outlined above.
4. Over the age of 17

Truth is,I laid my eyes upon the thread you posted on how to apply for a group in order to get accepted. Not gonna lie,you made a major point.When somebody shows no interest in writing down at least a paragraph or a proper fulfilled answer to your application in order to not break a sweat,how the fuck is this guy going to commit to your group,let alone contribute in any way to make it better. I didn't own this way of thinking nor did I had that point of view on that particular subject,so I accept it as a mistake on my part. when I applied I showed no interest at all.so,therefore I didn't get accepted. So this time I am going to try again,being more committed than I was in my last application.

My name is V and as ridiculous at it may sound I am a full time e-whorer averaging at least 150 to 200 per day. The reason I do this activity that I decided to baptize as a full time job,is because I am striving for success.In order for me to succeed I'd have to build a budget from scratch the fastest way possible so that I later ditch it and move on to business activities that I have in mind

(Specifically battery innovations and modifications,digital marketing and dropshipping). I am 25 years old and I live in Greece.As you may know,Greece as a country doesn't provide that many opportunities as it did before we had crisis here. Honestly,I am active.Believe me when I say,I work 10+ plus per day and because of that I am always on my computer.So group activity isn't going to be an issue at all. The reason I'd like to join this group is because it is a more enclosed group of people and an environment that can facilitate some specific relations with the individuals enrolled in this group.That leads to a discussion. A discussion leads to an idea.An idea sometimes leads to a collaboration.A collaboration,means money.I like money.We ALL do.I am more than happy to exchange business ideas,educate myself and afterwards help educate others.To sum it up,I really do believe that I deserve a spot on this team.I have things to offer,I am willing to be active,I am willing to be helped and last but not least I am willing to help others. That's why I believe I should take this spot.

Thanks in advance for going through the hassle of reading all this,I hope it didn't bore you.

PS. Yeah.Red color is dope too.It is indeed.

Everything started in the little African country of Cameroon, three years before the undertaker threw mankind of a cell, a boy was born. Some described him as a bastard, for the boy was without father. The gods eaten by guilt at their cruelty gave the child a gift, a gift of beauty. And, The boy was beautiful, so beautiful in fact that he was mistaken for a girl until puberty finally came knocking at his door. Despite that, the damages were already done. Shamed and humiliated in front of his friends and family, the boy slowly closed himself from the world, finding refuge in the deep recesses of the world wide web.

Fast forward, 10 years flew at the speed of light, the boy was now a man, or so he loved to think.

Now, stood a tall young man, born a stranger to his family, raised a man of no land. Trying to deal with his fleeting mortality while failing to hide his identity crisis. His unapologetic lack of faith drawing a line between him and the only woman he ever loved.

And so, on a rainy day, he left. His sight set on the vast world, fated to become the man he was always meant to be. Armed of his natural charisma, creative skills and mastery of languages.

Some people struggle all their life in an unending quest for success, they strive to set themselves apart from the mass. throwing their bodies and souls at the foot of the few standing at the top, just for this moment under the lights of our deprived society.

The one thing my adoptive country taught me is, all men stand equals in front of death, all men have fears, no matter how deep they hide them.

History is written by the victorious, their rules engraved in stone.

I am a creator, I am the writer of my own story and I will become the stone master of my future.

I suppose you can consider this as my formal request to join your club, despite it... peculiar form, take it as testament of my mastery of the English language, English not being my first language.

Your writing is quite beautiful. I enjoyed it greatly. Stick around the forum, get your post count up and maybe we'll talk some more.

Edit: you also must be an upgraded member to join usergroups.

We recommend you take the time to read the HF Help Documents section. The answer to your questions should be contained in there.

Milky2theBone - May 19, 2019, 6:37 pm

Thanks, I appreciate. I'll stick around, and see where it lead from there.
