Thread: How to appeal Instagram account deactivation?

Raymond "Red" Reddington - May 17, 2019, 9:44 am

I've tried through their support form:

<https://help.instagram.com/contact/606967319425038>

Got a reply that asks to send selfie with ID but never a proper follow-up.

I was thinking I can always try again, but it's always the same.

Maybe I should find a connection that works at IG or FB?

Someone here went through the same maybe so help me out here

Their support is usually shitty, just make a new account.

I already did, but I really want that account back.

It was my main only personal account.

I got my main private e-mail address and phone number linked to it and I sent selfies with ID, so I don't get why they won't reactivate.

They never explained why I got deactivated either.

Anyone that has had experience with this?

Why was it deactivated in the first place?

I temporarily deactivated it for a few weeks and when I came back and wanted to re-activate, I was unable to as IG apparently had deactivated.

Your best shot is contacting @Jeremy on HF
