Thread: My new sales thread design!

? THEINsPIREDONE - May 18, 2019, 8:22 am

Hello everyone, long time no see, at least into the RMG section! I've been using my current thread design for almost 3 years, so I thought I needed to completely revamp that and updated it to new trending standards! Let me know your thoughts!

ronez - May 18, 2019, 8:55 am

"visual designer 9 years of experience"... "visual artist based in Athens, Greece, with 8 years working as a professional visual designer!"

damn 1 year of experience and turned professional what a lad sick thread tho, looks nice

Hah, that's last years pitch, haven't quite figured out the text I'll be using on this one yet, will need to rewrite everything most likely.

For the time being I focused on the graphics

thanks

I really like the design. It's clean, appealing to the eye with great colors. Some of the text is a bit hard to read, at least on my screen but it's an excellent thread design overall.

Weebex - May 18, 2019, 5:46 pm

God damn that self shot in the header makes the design look too sexy. The only issue I got is the thin font you used for the last three sections. Since that orange is a really strong color, it makes it a little difficult to read the thin text on it, and is sort of the same for the sections. But other than that, definitely an upgrade from your previous one.

Life - May 18, 2019, 5:50 pm

This is sweet.. even just adding a photo of yourself just makes it that much better. Nice colours though lovely to look st.. maybe darker background if you want so much like text? Or darken the text? Just my opinion :) good job!

? THEINsPIREDONE - May 19, 2019, 7:26 am

Thank you everyone for your feedback. It seems the new HF template scales the thread design dimensions by a tiny bit, which makes most of the main-body text seem unreadable. Fixed this!

That's the first thing I noticed as well.

I believe you bring up your experience way to much. Once is enough it seems like every line says 9 years of experience (at least at the top)

Besides that, it looks awesome

The 2nd and 3rd "box" look a little boring/plain compared to everything else. It looks like something is missing

James Burnham - May 19, 2019, 7:34 am

I didn't know you were the rocketr logo creator. Nice job

You might be right, content writing was never my strong point in fact! I might need to hire someone and write up the content for me!

Nice job

Yup, that was me! :)

Really fun project to work on!

doesn't really have any sense of visual hierarchy. why is your most important info set in light, white type?

also I'm not sure what's up with your font or you typesetting but your x height is just really inconsistent across the board.

look at the r, the i, and the o here for example:

I like your colors and shapes though, got some nice contrast

I believe what you're trying to comment on is not visual hierarchy, but contrast, judging by the fact that you're talking about important into not being bold enough [?]

But I find that the most important elements, such as "who I am", "what I do" and "how long i've been doing it" are pretty bold compared to the rest of the elements on the canvas.

Indeed the font seems to be having some inconsistency below 14px, I'll need to fix that!
Thanks!

no I mean visual hierarchy, not contrast, and I mean the actual paragraphs themselves. they're set in a paper thin font and aren't very readable. I'm not saying they aren't bold enough, but they're too small and light compared to everything else on the page c00lkid66 - June 13, 2019, 5:52 pm

"and demadning environment" misspelled demanding caught ya lol. But nice design.

Man, it would be perfect if your shirt on the first photo of you has long sleeves, haha :D
Nice!

Obviously I'm going to say this is quite good.

This looks great man! Didn't know you made the logo for rocketr.

If you don't mind me asking, what do you use to make these thread designs, aside from Photoshop?

?man - July 24, 2019, 3:42 am

I really like that! Though I noticed one typo in the first paragraph! "Demadning" should be "demanding". I think the paragraph text could be a little bigger. It might just be my screen but with the bright blue and red pages I found it hard to read.
