Controversial art, but I like it. What's the inspiration of this piece? Did you give it a name yet? It reminds me of something a skater/bmxer would draw. Keep it up!

This reminds me of something someone would draw on the wall in the bathroom at my school.

Thanks for giving me nightmares.

The name is Test Subject #334, this specific piece is about how most foods and cosmetics we consume now and days are more negative for are bodies and mental well being, basic humans are treated as rats with diff processed foods and technology.

Thank you for the explanation! I will check the painting once more, but this time I will have in mind all these things you wrote down. Looking forward to see more of your work.

This is a most weird thing I have seen in a long while.

One cannot ignore the fact, it is so good. Nice piece of work OP.

This could definitely fit perfectly in a modern art gallery/show

If you can find the right people- if you haven't (of course) you can gain a big following for work like this!

Good job on it! OP

This is my goal... Very hard to reach out to people for me personally. lots of self doubt and such. I have a huge catalog of art for when the day comes though. <https://twitter.com/@em0tionull>
