

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: The great eWhoring debate - What are your opinions on eWhoring? Is it Good or Bad?

HQCheckers - May 24, 2019, 1:29 pm

So there's been a lot of drama in other threads, taking room up for useful replies sooo..

I DON'T personally eWhore anymore myself, but I work with a lot of people who do.

So my personal opinion is, the dirty perverted scumbags that eWhores take money from; what is wrong with taking money from those types of people?

I could understand peoples anger if you was exploiting money out of a kind, normal gentleman / human.. but these guys are vile, vulgar, disrespectful idiots who think woman are toys or sex slaves.. why would anyone have a problem exploiting money out of a person like that?

Technically, by eWhores taking time away from the perverts, it's possibly saving a real young lady from being disrespected and begged for nudes etc, some of the ways the guys talk to those they believe are woman is DISCUSTING.

If you ask me, I'd rather some guy distract a pervert, take his money of him, and maybe think twice before he finds my daughter on instagram and comments about how beautiful she is..

What are your thoughts/opinions?

Electrode - May 24, 2019, 1:32 pm

Paging @BV1 to add some heat to the discussion.

bruisedwitch - May 24, 2019, 2:02 pm

(May 24, 2019 01:29 PM)AtrocityX Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So my personal opinion is, the dirty perverted scumbags that eWhores take money from; what is wrong with taking money from those types of people?

Exactly, half the guys I ewhore are the lowest of the low humanity has to offer. Pedos, hateful incels or just flat out creeps who would probably screw their own daughters if they were hot enough. I couldn't care less about pulling one over on them.

Now, what I don't agree with is romance scamming shy, nice guys who just have trouble with women. These ones are easy to weed out from the filthy creeps and I usually just sell them premium even tho it pains me to turn down the extra potential money sugar daddies/long term catfishing can bring in.

That, to me, is where it crosses over into unethical and scammy territory. And there's a lot of risk there too. Just look at the guy that scammed that lawyer for thousands and ended up in jail (if that was even true...)

Anyway, I've only done that once. Last summer/fall I milked this Asian guy for a sick amount of money, but I started to feel terrible about it from everything he was telling me about his life, so I slowly just ended things with him and put him in touch with a real girl.

noureddinemerra - May 24, 2019, 3:13 pm

I agree with the reasons you listed for why to E-whore , as well as the part of knowing when you're turning into a scammer therefore not proceeding further . ?

I would also like to add that E-whoring for me is a bit of a war and a moral conversation between people who objectify women and me an E-whorer ?

I try to send the message that paying for sexual services is wrong and it should be under the umbrella of love , and not become a trading thing , you must be loved first to be fucked or get fucked , and we should raise on our animal instincts and behaviors and be gentlemen and ladies , so there's that , and also the fact that This domain teaches A lot of things about how the Male brain works , it's driven by the Dick in most cases , it also proves itself working when it comes to being able to read people and be aware of their real intentions , Last but not least you become able to read between the lines and interpret words in the way they were meant to be said not the way they were said . ?

That's it for me , thanks for posting and what do you think of my response ?? ?

SUI-3183372 - May 24, 2019, 4:58 pm

Hey, a thread that I'm welcomed on :) I'm out at the moment, but I'll try to make a full reply later tonight. In the mean time I'll just reply to this.

(May 24, 2019 02:02 PM)bruisedwitch Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Exactly, half the guys I ewhore are the lowest of the low humanity has to offer. Pedos, hateful incels or just flat out creeps who would probably screw their own daughters if they were hot enough. I couldn't care less about pulling one over on them.

Now, what I don't agree with is romance scamming shy, nice guys who just have trouble with women. These ones are easy to weed out from the filthy creeps and I usually just sell them premium even tho it pains me to turn down the extra potential money sugar daddies/long term catfishing can bring in.

That, to me, is where it crosses over into unethical and scammy territory. And there's a lot of risk there too. Just look at the guy that scammed that lawyer for thousands and ended up in jail (if that was even true...)

Anyway, I've only done that once. Last summer/fall I milked this Asian guy for a sick amount of money, but I started to feel terrible about it from everything he was telling me about his life, so I slowly just ended things with him and put him in touch with a real girl.

See, you have points that I do and I don't disagree with.

I'm happy to hear that you don't target people who are just looking for companionship and attention online, but I fear that you're the minority within the e-whoring community. The more common approach amongst e-whores is to just cast out as many nets as possible and to take what you can get, scamming anyone and everyone that you can, and these are the people who bother me.

While you'll never see me support any form of e-whoring, as I think regardless of the circumstance there's always a better way to spend your time, you also won't see me losing sleep or making a big fuss about the type of e-whoring you state you partake in, targeting the bad guys. You'll never convince me that you're capable of deciding who does and doesn't deserve to be targeted by you, but as far as encroaching on my morality goes, you're not somebody who I'd view as despicable, which is how I view many other e-whores.

Ultimately I guess my two large issues with e-whoring really just boil down to:

1. The e-whores are doing nothing to better themselves or their lives. It's akin to really doing nothing all day long. No skills are gained, no experiences are gained, you're really just earning enough money to stay completely stagnant in your life, and I'd be pretty disappointed to see any of my friends or family like that.

2. It may be hypocritical considering my past, but that was a long time ago. I have morality issues with the way e-whores target people searching for companionship and love online. I'm aware that people may not agree with the avenue that they're taking to find companionship, I'm aware people may consider their choice pathetic, but it's still the choice that they've made and they're risking a lot putting themselves out there in a vulnerable state, and it really bothers me seeing others take advantage of that. It takes a very small person to take advantage of someone or something so vulnerable, and I fear that people who disregard vulnerability here may disregard it in other aspects of life as well.

I would not be shocked at all if 10-15 years from now that we learn that animal abuse is a common trait amongst e-whores.

Electrode - May 24, 2019, 6:07 pm

(May 24, 2019 04:58 PM)BV1 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hey, a thread that I'm welcomed on :) I'm out at the moment, but I'll try to make a full reply later tonight. In the mean time I'll just reply to this.

See, you have points that I do and I don't disagree with.

I'm happy to hear that you don't target people who are just looking for companionship and attention online, but I fear that you're the minority within the e-whoring community. The more common approach amongst e-whores is to just cast out as many nets as possible and to take what you can get, scamming anyone and everyone that you can, and these are the people who bother me.

While you'll never see me support any form of e-whoring, as I think regardless of the circumstance there's always a better way to spend your time, you also won't see me losing sleep or making a big fuss about the type of e-whoring you state you partake in, targeting the bad guys. You'll never convince me that you're capable of deciding who does and doesn't deserve to be targeted by you, but as far as encroaching on my morality goes, you're not somebody who I'd view as despicable, which is how I view many other e-whores.

Ultimately I guess my two large issues with e-whoring really just boil down to:

1. The e-whores are doing nothing to better themselves or their lives. It's akin to really doing nothing all day long. No skills are gained, no experiences are gained, you're really just earning enough money to stay completely stagnant in your life, and I'd be pretty disappointed to see any of my friends or family like that.

2. It may be hypocritical considering my past, but that was a long time ago. I have morality issues with the way e-whores target people searching for companionship and love online. I'm aware that people may not agree with the avenue that they're taking to find companionship, I'm aware people may consider their choice pathetic, but it's still the choice that they've made and they're risking a lot putting themselves out there in a vulnerable state, and it really bothers me seeing others take advantage of that. It takes a very small person to take advantage of someone or something so vulnerable, and I fear that people who disregard vulnerability here may disregard it in other aspects of life as well.

I would not be shocked at all if 10-15 years from now that we learn that animal abuse is a common trait amongst e-whores.

Heres my argument in this debate :

You have very different areas of eWhoring :

- 1) Love scam (tricking vulnerable people into paying you which is mostly a Nigerian way of doing things)
- 2) Selling nudes / videos / sexual content (most popular way in the section)
- 3) CPA / PPD / Affiliate eWhoring
- 4) Disallowed Blackhat activities which I won't mention

Category 1 is despicable and I agree with you. Those people are the scum of the earth. We agree here so moving on.

Category 2 Selling nudes / sexual content. The most popular way of eWhoring. Horny guys thinking with their dicks message you and want to indulge in some sexual activities. You take their money and either give them content or scam them (giving content always better as they will be repeat buyers). Most of the time nothing wrong with that. These buyers are thinking with their dicks and judgment is bad. They make rash decisions into wanting to see you naked so they can "finish" and they're out of your hair.

Nobody is searching for love and companionship on online sexting forums / pornhub / whatever eWhore sites. Hell even people on [BRAND NAME REMOVED] that get catfished and buy nudes should kinda know better. If they are in it for the love they're using money as a form of leverage on you to guilt you into meeting them which makes them no better than eWhores.

And as you know a fool and his money will soon be parted.

Category 3 is the most harmless. Sign up here for free nudes or whatever approach and you collect pennies and dollars on the back end.

Category 4 won't discuss as its irrelevant.

So is your only problem with eWhoring then category 1 eWhoring? If so u should be glad to know it's not very if at all popular on HF and is mostly practiced by uneducated Nigerians tricking lonely people into sending them large sums of money.

Bonus points :

Skills I learned while eWhoring :

- Making basic websites (for eWhoring)
- Making graphics and editing pictures (basics)
- Learning how to sell and how to people react to purchasing things.
- Payment processors inside out (most of them)
- Video editing (by making VCW-s)
- Setting up autopilot sales sites and dabbling in affiliate marketing.
- Worked with real models and helped them make it in the adult industry
- Work in sales in real life at the moment so I hope eWhoring helped me develop my skills regarding that Made enough money to be self-sufficient while not relying on finding a shitty exploitative job (coming from eastern Europe) while making 2x the minimum wage. Financing my move to a better life in a first world country. Having something to fall back on while out of a real job.

Now i took breaks here and there and never liked to rely on eWhoring for income but always comes in handy when in need. And autopilot methods can help as a side fun money as well.

Also I've been in the eWhoring biz on and off for 8 years and still don't regret it maybe in 10 years I will but I doubt it.

?

b?xxy - May 24, 2019, 6:23 pm

In all honesty, who cares.

Most of the people complaining do other immoral stuff, hacking, drugs, etc.

I'd rather take money from men that treat women like shit than let someone else take it.

zetexdk - May 24, 2019, 7:07 pm

its kind of a weird business to have on the sideline :D

Scarfac - May 24, 2019, 9:12 pm

I totally agree with you, to be honest I have been doing ewhoring for 2 years already and I do it mainly for money, I consider the person who pays me all just like cunts, because to do have us you really have to be a no life and be stupid, but, my opinion on the ewhoring is that it is very saturated at the moment, the guys before we noticed but to day go on any application, Any facebook ext group and look how much you will find fake is too much I think that soon ewhoring will be completely dead, to day there are those who get a little money and those who harvest crumbs, and others who harvest the rest and it is a reality

compunerd - May 24, 2019, 11:06 pm

What does " Fucking OP! " mean exactly?

newbieboy18 - May 25, 2019, 12:23 am

It's good if you do enough money, and, of course, if bad if you don't!

Who really cares in our days about immoral or illegal stuff?

HQCheckers - May 25, 2019, 1:54 pm

I mean bottom line, would they do (or try to do) that to you if they knew how? YES.

It's a doggy dog world, you have to do what you can to survive, obviously mugging grannies on the street is a whole new sick level, but taking money from somebody who would probably rape our daughters given the chance? Take their fucking money so they can't afford a bus ticket to get to them.

If you have respect for yourself, you would not beg for nudes to the point you're willing to pay for them, when you don't even know they are real.

I was brought up to, respect myself before I should expect anyone to have respect for me, and be able to help myself before others can help me.

Do what you can to survive, if that means taking money from people who are willing to pay money, do it.

iDevNet - May 25, 2019, 2:59 pm

Ok, so, I started e-whoring recently after buying 2 guides and learning everything. Have only worked with Snapchat for now and all manual work, setting up everything for auto-pilot purchases now (hope it goes well).

I don't necessarily think e-whoring is bad. Yes, you're taking Money off some guys but you're not scamming (unless you don't end up sending pics, but that's a whole new story). Guys that treat women like shit and would even try banging his own daughters if they were hot enough for them.

xz1333 - May 25, 2019, 4:51 pm

I have never tried it. I wonder is it even possible to make any decent cash from it ?

Aliasllias - May 26, 2019, 3:19 pm

Well I earned a lot from E-whoring without taking the same risk some of my friends made for money. Also you give the guy what he pays for, so what's the problem?

RodroM21 - May 31, 2019, 3:28 pm

(May 24, 2019 02:02 PM)bruisedwitch Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Exactly, half the guys I ewhore are the lowest of the low humanity has to offer. Pedos, hateful incels or just flat out creeps who would probably screw their own daughters if they were hot enough. I couldn't care less about pulling one over on them.

Now, what I don't agree with is romance scamming shy, nice guys who just have trouble with women. These ones are easy to weed out from the filthy creeps and I usually just sell them premium even tho it pains me to turn down the extra potential money sugar daddies/long term catfishing can bring in.

That, to me, is where it crosses over into unethical and scammy territory. And there's a lot of risk there too. Just look at the guy that scammed that lawyer for thousands and ended up in jail (if that was even true...)

Anyway, I've only done that once. Last summer/fall I milked this Asian guy for a sick amount of money, but I started to feel terrible about it from everything he was telling me about his life, so I slowly just ended things with him and put him in touch with a real girl.

?

I'm about to buy it, as soon I try it, i'll let you know ?

RodroM21 - June 2, 2019, 9:16 pm

(May 24, 2019 11:06 PM)compunerd Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What does " Fucking OP! " mean exactly? Maybe it's just like fuck off, lol

BlueDiamondCat - June 13, 2019, 11:18 am

It's not like you're giving them nothing in return so imo, it's silly to be angry at e-whorers.

They come for what they are seeking and they get it, only difference is who you are but they don't know about your background, even if a girl was doing it for real she probably wouldn't tell her background.

It's not as bad as it sounds imo :)

James Burnham - June 13, 2019, 11:24 am

Good and bad are not set by individuals. They are set by whole societies collectively. Ewhoring is bad, selling non-working ebooks is bad, selling RATs is bad, selling social media bots is bad.

Sure, 99.99% of the all people, including killers, drug dealers etc think of themselves as somewhat good people and in their mind their actions are justified. But they are just delusional, they just can't stand the bitter truth.

SecretAchiever101 - June 13, 2019, 2:05 pm

In my opinion you should host this poll in the lounge,so you have most objective results regarding it.

It's like going at a communist meet-up and hand out questionnaires "Is communism Good or Bad?".

Well, of course they are going to say good haha souleaterbiggs - June 23, 2019, 9:29 am

(May 24, 2019 06:23 PM)b?xxy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) In all honesty, who cares.

Most of the people complaining do other immoral stuff, hacking, drugs, etc.

I'd rather take money from men that treat women like shit than let someone else take it.

facts yo , who cares

lunate - September 6, 2019, 9:41 am

(May 24, 2019 01:29 PM)AtrocityX Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So there's been a lot of drama in other threads, taking room up for useful replies sooo..

I DON'T personally eWhore anymore myself, but I work with a lot of people who do.

So my personal opinion is, the dirty perverted scumbags that eWhores take money from; what is wrong with taking money from those types of people?

I could understand peoples anger if you was exploiting money out of a kind, normal gentleman / human.. but these guys are vile, vulgar, disrespectful idiots who think woman are toys or sex slaves.. why would anyone have a problem exploiting money out of a person like that?

Technically, by eWhores taking time away from the perverts, it's possibly saving a real young lady from being disrespected and begged for nudes etc, some of the ways the guys talk to those they believe are woman is DISCUSTING.

If you ask me, I'd rather some guy distract a pervert, take his money of him, and maybe think twice before he finds my daughter on instagram and comments about how beautiful she is..

What are your thoughts/opinions?

You crazy??? Those men are mimicking the porn videos they are seeing, basically the human mind works by following what it loves and applies it, so if he is watching porn 10hr/day, then he is thinking that girls mindset is nudity and having You are only justifying vulgar means to get money from men when it is the worst way ever. Imagine yourself wanting to find a wife, you would not ask for nude pictures but if the one who is E-whoring you offers it to you for money, then What a normal person would do is wow this lady might not be just any wife, she is the best so lets buy her nude pictures and I will try to get close to her,,,, but actually that man had no intention whatever of having her pictures in the first place ?

By the way I also do E-whoring and blackmailing for money and every single bit of my body refuses it but why not, lets get free money while sitting on the chair. As long as I am safe I will E-whore millions of people

FalkusKibre - November 10, 2019, 1:58 pm

Guys, i think it's the best way to do it before the next economy crises, i meet a girl on my last trip to madrid (paid by ewhoring) and i told her what i am doing. She was so interested in this stuff and shocked that i earned so much money just by doing that stuff. But she gave me i thought, like why all of the men are thinking they can let loose of their hard earned money like that. No one is thinking like "damn i should go to a real hooker and get my dick sucked", i mean they paid me like 90€ per membership! So i think life is too easy right now for everyone because we got no big problem. So IMO its the easiest way to get your money to start a real business! If someone has this amount of money lose in his pocket, get it and pay your own dreams, the money is in better use in your hands!

Sorry for bad english