Thread: recruiting hackers

entity - May 25, 2019, 12:02 pm

Hello, I am posting to inform that a position in my hacking group has popped up we have done and have experience in simple things like DDoS Via A large botnet (don't think because you downloaded Loic, Hoic or Xoic your gonna take down a website) And more complex or just less scriptkiddle like things like PC related hacking using RPI and P4wnP1 alola 'Hacking' websites using sqlmap (ok i do admit slightly script kiddle like) and other thing related. I have a CPT and LPD certification and used to have be a penetration tester but the company i worked for was almost a joke as to how unprofessional it was.

we are not looking for crazy advanced hackers we are just looking for people how have knowledge but are also fun because at the end of the day this group isn't a gigantic hacktivist movement like anonymous but a fun and intense side 'thing' not to say we are not organised and don't go to measures to protect our selves from exposure (hence no reference to the actual group as i question the security of this site against cops) we do organised attacks on things that aren't right and small fun attacks because my neighbour wouldn't keep the music down last night)

Thank you,

Lante - May 25, 2019, 12:19 pm

Judging by your writing style, the fact that you mention being responsible for multiple attacks with zero detail whatsoever and using IG and gmail (seriously?) for your recruitment, I doubt the seriousness of your 'group'.

Ok thank you for your feedback i will take this into account and re-write my proposition

Ok, Rewritten Thank You

Thank you for your feedback but we do not recognise that i do admit on IG and other platforms people have been pretending to be us sorry for any confusion also wow i always surf that sub Reddit R/mystery and have never found that.

also i had to take out the links because i don't have 50 posts yet

Lante - May 25, 2019, 1:21 pm

I must say that the rewritten version of your original post is more sloppy than it was before.

Based on your punctuation your entire post is comprised out of 3 sentences.

- "There's PC related hacking using RPI" What?
- "but the company i worked for was almost a joke as to how unprofessional it was." so you recruit on HF?
- "Loic, Hoic or Xoic" No one even mentions this in a recruitment advertisement...
- "we have done and have experience in simple things like DDoS Via A large botnet" DDoS is rather unrelated to the practice of hacking a computer system with the goal to extract data, take control over a system or break security measures. Taking down a website must be the "fun" factor in your group I guess?
- "ok i do admit slightly script kiddie like" is where anyone would stop reading...

That's my 2 cents.

You should rethink how you wish to expand your group, and use the criticism to improve your approach if you are being serious.

Ok Im sorry i should just accept your criticism and use it for good thank you for feedback i will use this to help myself and my group not my anger to retaliate also i know realise that you have to have a very large lung capacity to read my post

Haha I love these kinds of threads where they think that they will find some pr0h4xx0r here in HF just because the forum is called "hack" forums.

However, I wish you big good luck in finding the best potential guy that matches your requirements.

Whats the actual goal of your group, summed up in one sentence, if you dont mind me asking?

Cooligan - May 25, 2019, 5:11 pm

I'm level 4 in the hack game and have successfully completed the 9% job multiple times.

Do I qualify yet?

in one sentence ok

well mostly just to become better at hacking while doing small pointless things and every once in a while do something big to really test our self's.

we do 'mostly' get consent before hand

The AI - May 26, 2019, 6:33 am

Just curious, have you ever participated in any CTF?

That would be a nice goal, for the start. Good luck with your recruitment. Though, I suppose you should get more value here as a member to get some response.
Not sure how such a recruitment should generally look like btw. Maybe it is better to look at people and suggest them to join personally via PMs (just thinking aloud).

I was talking about getting other people familiar of your knowledge and capabilities throughout communication in general. No rush.

There are no hackers here on Hack Forums.
Also if you're a hacker why do you have 0 XP points?

This here just shows how much you know about hacking.

Do some research before you make yourself look like the fool you are.
