Thread: How do phone thieves do it?

Tsach3vTP - May 29, 2019, 2:39 pm

Okay so I see articles up to 100 phones being stolen in london. How do they do that? Ok I see androids like its a bit easier and even samsungs cant they be traced? BUT IPHONES? How do they not get caught and unlock them? What if i have passcode and icloud and find my iphone? Wtf would they do with that phone. Pawn shops aint gonna accept that stolen shit. It blows my mind

Havoc - May 29, 2019, 2:40 pm

this not allowed to be discussed here.

ShinyThings - May 29, 2019, 2:40 pm

You can flash it and unlock it and it's easy to sell at that point

How are they gonna find their iPhone when their iCloud is no longer connected and it's been flashed?

duplex - May 29, 2019, 2:57 pm

From London myself and I can tell you this, it's the easiest thing to do.

You use mopeds to cut through traffic, it makes you impossible to catch.

As for the locked phones, they can easily be bypassed/unlocked.

It's really easy lol.

How is he asking to commit fraud?

He's just asking how when phones get stolen how do they become available for sale easily in pawn.shops.

OP it's easier to flash Android phones.

I have never reset an iPhone, so I can't say about that

But I think it must not be much of a hassle.

If the iPhones are unlockable. They can be easily opened and the parts can be sold seperately.

Literally posted this yesterday "So apparently there is a rise in number of phones being stolen and used to access online banking. These phones are password protected and some even with biometrics. How are the guys getting them unlocked??"

I have no idea... but its happening everywhere

Yeah good luck seems like you got no clue what the fuck your talking about, you won't make it a week.

fyi if you got to ask a question don't act like you also got the answers. Idiot.

Mix - May 30, 2019, 2:51 pm

many of ways but I am not going to mention any methods as it's not allowed here. but just look it up I'm sure there is stuff on YT too.

You can't do anything with iPhones other than take them apart. If it has a passcode and you try to restore it to factory, the iCloud account locks the phone down. There not many ways to bypass it that easily.

iPhone OEM screens are worth a ton of its in really good condition. An iPhone X OEM screen is worth 100+.

Some people are really funny.

If you wanna have an even better laugh, read the deal dispute he opened (Havoc) against someone else.

I just read it, very stupid. I laughed still lol.

Suspect. - May 30, 2019, 4:46 pm

Mostly get stolen by moped thieves they aren't getting caught cuz the mopeds are also stolen plus they mask up.

I doubt it's that hard to break through the pass code

Bud.

There are other ways to take apart a phone and flash it without using consumer software.

i just didnt understand what you meant by saying "You have" reading my previous reply It doesnt make any sense. If the iphone is flashed before its icloud locked then thats the end.
