

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Mark As Incomplete/Cancel Button For Active Contracts

Zexi - June 2, 2019, 10:09 am

Recently i opened a contract for a vouch copy but forgot to include the thread link in the appropriate field and the user has accepted my contract. I was in a rush and totally forgot about it because i was manually starting a contract. And now when i want to open a new contract (proper one) with him i can't because of the "One opened contract per person" limit.

Another case where this happened was when i was buying a Amazon gift card and it ended up being invalid so i never bought it but i was left with a opened contract for a 25$ AGC. The user messaged me tommorow but with a different denomination, luckily he had one gift card that matched the amount in the contract so i have managed to use the same contract otherwise i would've been forced to use the same contract for a bigger amount which idk if it would be abuse or not.

TL;DR

A ability to mark contract incomplete or cancel a contract in the "Active Deal" state if both sides press the button, would be useful in this kinda situations so you could open a new contract.

ShinyThings - June 2, 2019, 10:11 am

I think the admin and dev team will add more abilities and time goes. Very nice suggestion though iriki - June 2, 2019, 10:39 am

I would welcome to have this option as well.
That'd be great.

SIM-2053312 - June 25, 2019, 12:06 pm

Yeah, a cancel button is a must need. There's always a time both parties need to cancel the contract.

Bossk - June 26, 2019, 7:41 am

Yes yes yes. A cancel button seems absolutely trivial.

Pronouncer - June 26, 2019, 8:00 am

i see a lot of problems tho, like what if someone scams, doesnt mark it as complete then cancels it.

flavoral - June 26, 2019, 8:01 am

(Jun 26, 2019 08:00 AM)Pronouncer Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) i see a lot of problems tho, like what if someone scams, doesnt mark it as complete then cancels it.

You can still dispute contracts marked as "Incomplete"

Zexi - June 26, 2019, 8:06 am

(Jun 26, 2019 08:00 AM)Pronouncer Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) i see a lot of problems tho, like what if someone scams, doesnt mark it as complete then cancels it.

Both sides have to click the cancel button just like both sides have to mark as complete.

Pronouncer - June 26, 2019, 8:22 am

(Jun 26, 2019 08:06 AM)Zexi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Both sides have to click the cancel button just like both sides have to mark as complete.

wow today im dumb. Sorry for stupid comment

TheOwner - June 26, 2019, 4:08 pm

This should 100% be added. I've had to let contracts expire because me and the other guy didnt want to do the deal anymore.

ShowDown - June 26, 2019, 4:13 pm

(Jun 26, 2019 04:08 PM)Leflare97 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This should 100% be added. I've had to let contracts expire because me and the other guy didnt want to do the deal anymore.
wont ever be added as could be used in scam attempt as well unless they make both parties click cancel

Quick - June 26, 2019, 4:47 pm

(Jun 26, 2019 04:08 PM)Leflare97 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This should 100% be added. I've had to let contracts expire because me and the other guy didnt want to do the deal anymore.

I totally agree with you, I too had to leave some contracts expire just because the client wanted to modify the payment gateway or small details, it would have been more practical to just be able to cancel the contract and immediately make a new one.

Zexi - July 3, 2019, 1:15 pm

This is just a reoccurring issue. Hope it gets added x)

Xerotic - July 4, 2019, 2:10 pm

Done.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5986528>