Thread: gmail vs protonmail

Blank - June 15, 2019, 6:28 pm

I am still on the verg of leaving gmail to use protonmail my question is who uses protonmail as a daily gmail provider and what are some reason i shouldn't leave or should leave gmail. Also will gmail freak out if im on a vpn ?

ETH - June 15, 2019, 6:31 pm

You can host your own email server so no one get freaked out

I use Protonmail as my main email. It just feels a way more comfortable. I'd recommend Protonmail.

MarvelJeffrey - June 15, 2019, 11:41 pm

I am still using Gmail and I never had an issue with VPN. I may try Protonmail again both are great Email providers security wise.

ChefPowder - June 15, 2019, 11:42 pm

will this email be using for scamming?

sadly hf already has your real ip so u fucked

Pawnhub - June 16, 2019, 2:47 am protonmail just seems more professionally done and you can have no identity on there, google is just overall a shitty company, with terrible PR.

Me too, it's great.

Freddy Kru?ger - June 16, 2019, 4:28 am

Been using proton as of late as well, the fact that they don't spy on you like Google does should be enough.

Anomaly - June 16, 2019, 6:02 am

I would suggest GMail for all of your personal accounts and protonmail for the rest.

I recommend your domain under protonmail and their email for the rest. If you're doing something semi sketchy just make a trap account. Get as far as possible from Google services.

Gmail has better security rather than proton mail, means when you will log in from an unusual IP or another country, you will be locked with verification code.

gmail's privacy is straight garbage though

Truthkillz - June 17, 2019, 5:37 pm

Google infest our lives any andriod is always gmail this gmail that, irl gmail is more of the norm but i recommend protonmail

SIM-2470866 - June 17, 2019, 5:43 pm

ProtonMail is pretty good. You can also go for <https://tutanota.com/>

For $5 a month you can have your own private server from digital ocean, and do whatever you want with it. (VPN, SMTP, DB) etc..

crazy how i was debating hard about using gmail as i hate the fact it's watching everything u do I use protonmail on a daily basis but Im trying to get a good job soon meaing becoming a banker or IT specialist or some sort of job that helps me in the future im currently working at the biggest GYM in the east coast but i feel like im wasting time which i could get experience in other jobs that benefit me. But yeah off topic I was thinking these big jobs won't accept people who use protonmail or something never heard of or out of the usual reason im debating going back to gmail.

Tbh didn't know about protonmail until now, but it looks great and has great features

BTC - June 24, 2019, 8:30 am

Lavabit is much better. Definitely hands down my favorite email provider

fbg - June 24, 2019, 8:39 am

After reading this thread I might have to try out proton mail pulledup - June 24, 2019, 8:43 am

i use protonmail for online shit, gmail for irl

257207954 - June 24, 2019, 9:20 am

I wouldn't use either of those anymore :)

PrinceOfTruth - June 25, 2019, 5:33 pm

Personally I use Gmail and would recommend to keep using it because Google is so superior to other sites. Protonmail does however sound very appealing. Why not try both out and then see?

TheZodiac - June 25, 2019, 5:35 pm

I use protonmail for the most part and gmail for my personal use things. Both have their good and bad.

Mix - June 25, 2019, 7:08 pm

I am still with the old Gmail trend as I just use it to have a few throwaway emails now and then. But I might use Protonmail soon its been on my mind.

i avoid proton mail, they have suspended my accounts on there just because of a name. Avoid proton mail and tutanota.

Stick to gmail if your jsut being legit.

Or setup your own with Zohomail

SwimmingPool - June 27, 2019, 4:17 pm

I use proton mail, I have it pointing to my own domain name.

Brain - July 1, 2019, 9:17 pm

I use Protonmail it's a good email provider that works.
