

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Is 100k enough from a IT sector company?

partner12 - June 18, 2019, 4:16 am

- 1) What do you think is it enough salary around 100k+ (annually) from a job - IT sector company? I want your opinion.
- 2) how much do you make from your job?

ASLR - June 18, 2019, 4:43 am

That depends on cost of living, region, etc. If you're living in the bay your salary better be higher than doing an equivalent job in the Midwest

partner12 - June 18, 2019, 4:46 am

(Jun 18, 2019 04:43 AM)ASLR Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That depends on cost of living, region, etc. If you're living in the bay your salary better be higher than doing an equivalent job in the Midwest
California living costs and apartment renting is not more than 40k and 20k for foods and others.

Bossk - June 18, 2019, 10:33 am

As php said, this would depends on a bunch of factors.

A freshly graduated CS student with nothing but a degree and shitty front end experience can only dream about 100k a year, but a skilled, senior back-ender should expect well over 100k

.Richie Rich - June 19, 2019, 7:34 pm

I think thats a good salary for the IT sector...

Yin Yang - June 19, 2019, 7:47 pm

A software engineer vs a DevOps or a full stack is going to be making different salaries so you need to be specific.

Just because you work in IT, doesn't mean you're making bank.

binbus - June 19, 2019, 8:40 pm

Depends where you are living buddy boyo

Connected - June 20, 2019, 7:19 am

It depends on what kind of venture you are trying to pursue. If you have a really unique idea, it may be a good idea to use that money to develop a prototype and get VCs to fund you.

Agent Shark - June 20, 2019, 7:28 am

There are a variety of IT roles in a company. Depending on what you do and where you live dramatically changes the number. 100,000 may be a lot to someone if they are a help desk role versus someone who is a project manager for a multi-million dollar project.

I am not going to disclose my income but for me, it leaves me comfortable. More money is always nice but I am happy and I know a lot of my friends coming out of college struggle to get the amount I am getting let alone a job.

Elweth - June 20, 2019, 7:30 am

It is decent, but definitely far from the best.

roman0x - June 20, 2019, 8:12 am

(Jun 19, 2019 07:47 PM)Yin Yang Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) A software engineer vs a DevOps or a full stack is going to be making different salaries so you need to be specific.

Just because you work in IT, doesn't mean you're making bank.Indeed, in fact I can't deny that many potential startup project right now about anything IT business which has been supported with mobile applications also. IT business can gain customers from anywhere, this field of money ofc.