You have to sell it in the Secondary Market or purchase a sticky... But a word of advice, you're correct nobody really cares about buying accounts.

Better off just selling it to a vendor like blazingboost. Even bigger 3rd party selling sites (ie sites that revolve around selling accounts for games like Sythe) don't have a massive League market, because unless you've got some super rare skins or old season awards they're worth fuck all, especially now that a lot of discontinued skins can be rebought at certain times of the year. Even then, it'd sell faster through somewhere like BB.
