When dling CEs, isnt it the norm that the currency other than crypto goes first? Esp in deals >500usd?

We all know crypto cannot be retrieved. There only special cases like neat and staid and honey singh, but crypto shouldnt go first, right?

I mean yeah, but wouldntt there be a chance that the MM runs away with both of our money?

Like if its for 1k btc, then the mm could run away with the pp and the btc, right?

For sure but if its just for small sums, doesnt it make sense to do a 1-1 deal

I guess it depends on the person. I go first all the time for small amounts but others may not want to risk it.

Appreciate it bruv! ?

I make people pay for the fees, it helps in general just say "you don't trust me" pay fees

Yup you never know. Tell the other part to mark your dispute resolved if you actually resolved it. Certainly going to effect your deals.

THATS WHAT IM SAYING!

Like 1 dude wants to buy 0.2 btc, but doesnt want to go first. I offer increments, still doesnt want to go first. Then he keeps insisting I get a MM and I pay for the MM.

Like dude wtf? Btc is a rising asset. Im selling it off for sure profit and not only do you want me to go first with an irreversible transaction, you also want me to pay for someone cause you dont trust me lol

Minimalist is contract banned so it's a risk.
