Thread: Full email list selling business inventory for sale | 75 million + emails

BusinessInflation - June 24, 2019, 5:56 pm

For the past year or so I have been selling email lists on various forums online, those email lists I have sourced myself. As I am now moving onto different business practices, I am looking to sell off the inventory of which I have built up.

The full amount of emails within the lists are around 75 million + emails, they are all split into 250k lists categorized by country of origin.

The split between countries is the following:

United States (Both B2C & B2B) (17 million emails total)

Canada (Only B2C) (9.5 million emails total)

UK (Only B2C) (3 million emails total)

EU (Only B2C) (14.7 million emails total)

Russia (Only B2C) (3 million emails total)

Asia (Both B2C & B2B) (20.5 million emails total)

Mix western countries emails (Only B2C) (2 million emails total)

Gmail emails (US,UK,EU) (Only B2C) (5.5 million emails total)

The emails have been sourced through opt in campaigns and social networking with people within the same business. As all the emails have been gathered by opt ins, they are all "can spam" which means the user of the email has at some point checked a terms box, stating that they are aware they can now be advertised towards.

The emails have all been run through the email validation software Atomic Bulk Email Verifier, which means all the emails have been checked to be working and fully "alive".

So far I have been selling the lists through three different forums and have been getting anywhere between 2-14 orders a month at an average order amount of around $150 USD. Therefore there is a great potential of earning a good amount of money for a side business, on top of that there is the potential to expand to other forums.

I will include the forums which have currently been used along with forums of which could be expanded to, in order to gather more sales. On average the investment required per forum is about $10-$20 USD as it most often costs money to start sales posts.

On top of that there is the option of also selling "off" forums, like your own website or alike, using advertising channels like Google Adwords, there is a great potential of gathering new customers.

I will of course be closing down all my threads on the various forums, so you are the only supplier of those lists.

If it is something of interest, or if you want to know more. Please do send me a PM with a potential offer or questions.
