Thread: must read if you are investing in btc rn...

BTC is rising.

Alot of newbies will invest because they follow hype.

BTC will up in price.

BTC will also FALL down like before.

Don't gamble your money kids.

Know what you are doing before investing in this currency that is extremely volatile.

Have fun boys

Kill Joy - June 24, 2019, 11:32 pm

Replace BTC with any other stock ticker and it's essentially the same, just less volatile.

I do agree with what you're getting at though, for the uneducated and the greedy.

Yeah Im also saying this to allot of people that think this will only go up now. There is still a good chance that it could correct itself in the next weeks/months

Grey Knight365 - June 25, 2019, 1:45 am

Yeah this is going to be a hard crash, glws boys.

King Joey - June 25, 2019, 2:54 am

Hmm this could be true. Though, we'll never know what's gonna happen.

It is flying right now, who knows how long it will fly for before a correction. I took out all of my other cryptos and put it into BTC so far

I put most of my BTC into Ethereum, if BTC Goes to 20k you only double your money, but if ETH goes back to 1k+ it is a lot more profit

Historically bitcoin has blasted past previous high after its 3 previous 80% corrections in the last 10 years. There is a lot of profit to be made with an entry at this price if you are bullish!

Yes because stocks derive their value from future expectations of the underlying companies profitability whereas BTC derives its value from?

I agree, speculation and scarcity. Unfortunately, I don't agree with the majority of people on here that those are viable options for long-term growth.

At least we have members like you who are smart enough to recognize that Bitcoin is speculation. F500 companies who want to use blockchain tech will create their own platforms like JPM or FB. Ethereum on the other hand may be a really good option, especially for small firms that don't have the infrastructure to build something on their own, they'll probably turn to a mainstream crypto with good leadership & support.

price drop already happening. Think it still might go down to 9k. Still a lot better than the 3-4k it was a few months ago.
