Thread: SWAT Was In a Stand Off

Android 17 - June 25, 2019, 2:41 pm

The swat was in a standoff both today and few days ago looking for someone connected to a kidnapping and a murder.

One guy was apprehended and is facing charges. The other is on the run still.

They kidnapped someone after they pistol whipped him.

After he escaped he flagged down an LG&E (local utility company) worker who contacted police.

The guy said his kidnappers took pliers to his toes and an angle grinder to his legs.

This world is going to hell in a hand basket quickly.

EDIT: Forgot to mention. This was a 5 minute walk from my house. The whole neighborhood was closed off in and out.

Swat stand offs most likely occur every day

S.W.A.T is an acronym for Special Weapons and Tactial.

They're specially trained divisions in the police department they work for.

And yes this was close. Like 3 minute away, choppers in the air, neighborhood closed off close.

I'm actually from a big city. Top 20 largest in the nation actually. Just the other day in a 30 hour span we had 2 killed and 11 injured from different shootings.

I think there's a gang war going on.

I think there's a gang war going on. That's lit, there probably is. My city has a bunch of dying addicts. Random bodies popping up everywhere.

As far as addicts, that's the smaller city I live in. Everyone is either pooping pills or shooting H.

Literally, I've seen the swat team knock doors down at least 10 times the past 2 months. It's like not that uncommon

Plus they're starting to cut it with Fentanyl.

I don't even understand what makes someone start shooting.

Considering you have to have someone help you the first time.

That is completely insane. They say someone can OD on an amount equal to 3 GRAINS OF SALT.
