-- Killing's Personal Tips & Tricks (Not stolen from many people like my tutorial) --

If a guy likes to send a lot of dick pictures, they most likely won't buy and are wasting your time.

If someone says they are sending a payment, and you don't receive it within 5 minutes, they are also wasting your time. (They may ask for pics while it is "sending")

People from third world countries most likely won't buy. This is due to them either not having the funds available, or honestly just not having the way to pay you.

If a guy doesn't seem interested (yes you can tell), they most likely won't buy.

If they ask for nude previews, say no most of the time unless you feel you can honestly trust them. This is every guys dream, free nudes to just run off with.

Can't get buyers? We all get this at first, you need to work at the manipulation skills now, make sure you have in all your messages on the end an 'x' at least one. Also on an occasional message have a :* kiss. These look realistic.

* A guy has a fucked up fetish? If they have a fetish that isn't in your pack just say you will do it later (and then never do it), or just say you are uncomfortable with doing that.

How many failed e-whoring attempts did it take you to make those conclusions, if I may ask?

Stop shit posting. All your threads are common sense or common knowledge.

Regardless of what some are saying, these are good tips for BEGINNERS.

Some people don't understand it as fast as others. No need to be rude ya little twats.

These tips are horrible. Here are some better alternatives to some of those tips.

If he wants to send dick pics, charge him to rate his dick. 99% of the time, he will buy.

If they want pics while they are sending the money, I send them censored ones with the good parts blurred out.

If he wasn't interested, he wouldn't have contacted you. You need to move him towards a sale.

If they want a nude preview, I usually send them a pic of my girl covering her tits with her arm.
