Thread: CloudFlare experiencing 502

Uriel Septim - July 2, 2019, 7:11 am

HackForums was down due to CloudFlare going down, bringing Discord, Crisp, Hackforums and a good percentage of the WWW with it.

Quote:Investigating - Cloudflare is observing network performance issues. Customers may be experiencing 502 errors while accessing sites on Cloudflare.

We are working to mitigate impact to Internet users in this region.

Either I'm having dejavu or this has happened more than once in the past week.

Kinda crazy that with their huge amounts of funding Discord still has an Achilles heel.

Yet they don't have issues?

What went down that has more active users than Discord?

Blockchain went down

So many big websites, find them yourself.

Everything that was behind cloudflare.

Exactly. This happened on 25th june or 26th.
Discord was down, and many other sites too.

Felt like end of times lol. Any website that I tried to visit. 502 down.
I was starting to think, is terminator happening? Skynet has taken over the world??????

Haha

Was talking to an off-site mate about this. Millions of effected parties but we haven't seen in reflected in the mainstream media to the extent that its worth.

When a worldwide resource goes down multiple times in the span of a month you'd think there's something going on there.

Also stop modifying your popularity on me. LOVE ME OR HATE ME MAKE YOUR MIND!
