Thread: The Proxy Bay - Proxy List

hexcore - July 8, 2019, 4:33 pm

I'm working on a "proxy bay" clone for TPB that automatically checks proxies.

I was looking for some advice on the design as well as if anyone has any advice on SEO for this particular kind of website since SEO baffles me completely.

Here's the link: <https://proxybay.wtf>

Yeah in fact they denied it due to copyright infringement or whatever, but I've seen similar websites with AdSense, so I'm wondering how they got past the checks.

When you get accepted into the adsense program on one site, you can easily add more sites without the same in-depth checks being made. You will always risk being banned though.

I actually didn't know that. So technically my best bet for adsense is to make another site, get that approved and then add this one? That seems like a lot of work lmao
