Hey, I'm from Canada and I like to do fun things and stuff.

I come here to learn more about how certain programs work and also to re-learn techniques such as Ratting and other white/gray activities. Not for malicious intent, but more so my own sort of hobby as I realized I need to get back into something like this. I used to mess around on other websites similar to this with certain tools and what not but gave that all up after I had to move out of parent's house.

But now I'm on my own and wanting to learn some new things and I know this is the place for it just by the vibe I get by reading some posts. Seems like a lot of knowledgeable people are here and seem to always be willing to help!

I look forward to meeting you all.

Talk soon,.

Oh BTW I can't seem to purchase a membership via credit card. Is that since taken down?

Well if I were you, I would make a giveaway contest in the Member Contests subforum and require that people +rep you in order to enter. You'd get a lot of rep that way.

Otherwise, you can just give it away in the <https://hackforums.net/forumdisplay.php?fid=187> subforum.

Cheers!
