first of all this doesn't work like described... second I waited for deliver +- a month and when finally he delivered this I barely infected my own pc and respond from him was that pc is crap and old. so I tried buy loads here and from 200 loads I got 0 bots (probably crap pc too. all of them). So I waited till he repair it and update it cuz it was still in development. meanwhile my hosting expired but I waited. I contacted him like one or two weeks before and doesn't get answer. not here, not on jabber.

I think I had a patience and I wasn't impatient.

RCE - July 24, 2019, 10:11 am

Oh really? what is this now? This is a wrong dispute , when you buy software and it works into your pc then trying to buy bots and it didn't work on them, that means you need to blame the bot seller, not the software seller.

if you can't understand some logical stuff then you need to think again.

Handsome Hawk - July 31, 2019, 1:41 pm

ok ok sure.. even you on team viewer tried infecting my own PC more than 15min ! so I don't think it worked. btw yes put blame on bot seller. bot seller who sell here and have only good reviews. don't be wrong his bots doesn't work only with your net. on my form book I get them all on another order what do you think I get all to rat. so lets count.. 3 orders, one for rat (was perfect), second for FB (perfect too), third for smm and you what's was in panel ? my own PC.

yea sure everyone could make mistake same as me but I'm not first one who had problem with this nonsense right ?

RCE's stuff works fine, this isn't his fault... Why are you disputing him?

His software works fine, you're not entitled to a refund because the bot seller's loads didn't work out too well. That's always on you or the bot seller, not the software provider.

I can understand being frustrated, but there is probably something up with the crypt or otherwise. You don't file a dispute on the botnet owner for stuff like this, unless there is a specifically stated refund policy that this falls under. You are misplacing blame.

If liability fell on the botnet / RAT seller when installs don't work, nobody would sell them because you could easily just fake something like this and boom the software vendor is now liable for hundreds or thousands of dollars. It doesn't make any sense.

Again, I can see you being frustrated (I would too) but RCE is not liable for this. I suggest you remove the dispute or else V3NDORs are going to see this and be hesitant to sell anything to you (I would at least).

Well your posts thus far seem very irrational and I hope you realize that you cannot hear somebody sarcastic inflection through typed words, so what do you expect me to think?

Anzee - October 31, 2019, 11:41 am

I'm surprised someone that can't figure out how to test if a RAT functions properly got into Null...

I agree, what is this user thinking opening a dispute against RCE for this lol? Does he expect RCE to pay the cost of the bots?

I will never sell anything to this user if he offered to pay me double, looking at his posts it looks like he argues with every vendor he buys from.

I expect nothing from you I don't even know you and I don't know why you crying for him. I doesn't bought a fkin ebook for $20 I gave him almost 1K and I expect something that actually work. Not beta version that is unable to infect 90% of PCs and is deployed after almost two months. But we are not talking about his communication

I understand your frustration, but you are delusional in thinking that the loads not working are on him to pay. He's never going to pay you (I wouldn't) and you're not getting any sympathy from anybody. Talk to the bot seller, not him. Why did you not test it before paying so much money for bots? Are you delusional?

No shit we're talking about the net, what did you think we were talking about?

I'll ask my question again, did you test the botnet with a few bots before paying for a bunch of loads?

This is why people are hesitant to sell on HF, because of stupid buyers like you who attack the seller even though it is YOU who failed to do your due diligence.

look don't talk to me like im someone who found botnets thanks to this scammer.... its wasn't my first or last one I just wanted something new and we ended here so I must go back to old nets. So no its wasn't ME who FAILED and I don't remember you was part of a deal so go back to sell your ebook to trustful ppl and don't mix into something you don't understand Something I don't understand? This dispute is posted on a public sub for a reason, bud. I am a Vendor and I know what it's like to deal with stupid consumers, so when I see somebody wrongfully attacking a vendor for something that's YOUR fault I am going to come and weigh my opinion in. It seems you're the individual that doesn't understand what's going on, nobody is supporting you.

Test both the botnet and the bot seller next time. I don't understand what you're aiming for, RCE is not going to refund you for something you paid to someone else. He isn't liable for this. All you are doing with this thread is making yourself look like an idiot. I suggest you close it. You can talk down to me all you want but at the end of the day I'm going to stick up for a vendor who is being attacked.

I'm asking the question for a THIRD time, did you test your stub with other bots before paying for the bot seller, yes or no?

If you post a false dispute then you are stupid for not expecting criticism. Notice that other people's disputes aren't catching the same flack as yours, there's a reason behind that. I wouldn't be posting all of this if this was a valid dispute.

yes you don't understand you wasn't there when we make a deal, you wasn't there when he left and doesn't respond for two months and you wasn't there when everyone who bought this complaining about and he locked the thread and stop answering... and so on. do you know what I think ? that you crying here only for a reason that you selling some catchy ebook based on his eion product or how is it called and you have a problem because ppl who buying from you have are scared buy from him because of this dispute. and what nobody supporting me I'm not a kid who need to be held by hand. I opened this as a warning for normal ppl here.

and I answering you for the third time . I had my usual bot seller which mean I bought from him few times and never had a problem with delivery. when he deliver to my rats or to my others nets it was always great. so vendor was good so read this again and slowly. I KNOW THIS VENDOR.

for the stub yes I tested the stub even with rce on TW so stub was good too. again and slowly and read it loud. STUB WAS TESTED

What are you talking about? My ebook has absolutely nothing to do with RCE, he is not mentioned once and none of my methods require anybody to purchase from him.
