

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Loudest Car Audio?

HERMES - July 29, 2019, 10:22 pm

I got 2 Memphis 6x9's in my car, and they do the job..

But not enough. But I got them at a overpriced car audio shop locally for about $160.

What's the loudest car speakers I can get on Amazon for under $150, preferably $100?

Oxycodone - July 29, 2019, 10:58 pm

Im not a audio expert, I had a 15 inch kicker, with a good amp. Kicker speakers around.

But I recommend the 10"inch orion

<https://www.wooferset.com/p-8822-hcca102-orion-10-3000-watt-2-ohm-dvc-subwoofer.html>

they can out preform msot the systems I've seen around the city.

you just need a amp that can support it, they are very power demanding.

and make sure you have a good box that works well with the sub, the way the air is pushed through the box matters a lot and the room the sub can flex.

for speakers I recommend rockford fosgate speakers with a good stereo or if you want a seperate amp supporting the speakers and tweeters.

HERMES - July 30, 2019, 8:30 pm

(Jul 29, 2019 10:58 PM)Oxycodone Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Im not a audio expert, I had a 15 inch kicker, with a good amp. Kicker speakers around.

But I recommend the 10"inch orion

ERROR: The request could not be satisfied

they can out preform msot the systems I've seen around the city.

you just need a amp that can support it, they are very power demanding.

and make sure you have a good box that works well with the sub, the way the air is pushed through the box matters a lot and the room the sub can flex.

for speakers I recommend rockford fosgate speakers with a good stereo or if you want a seperate amp supporting the speakers and tweeters.Hell yeah much love bro! I'm gonna def look into those rockford fosgates soon!