Thread: Can i receive PM's without writing 25 Posts?

Invictu5 - July 31, 2019, 6:17 am

It is stated as a requirement for sending PM's, that i need to write at least 25 Quality Posts, to send Private Messages.

Does that also apply to receiving them?

Correct, only applies to sending them.

Good luck OP.

Thank you. I'm quite confused then.

I was replying on a couple posts on the Beginner Hacking Section, where Users give free Content away per PM, under the Requirement of having to answer on said Post. No one seems to send me a PM, tho.

Before closing my Thread, i'd like to ask, do you know from experience, how well this actually works?

Should i consider these Threads dead?

Thanks!

Edit 1: "Post" -> "Thread"

Edit 2: "answer" -> "send me a PM"

Some users require you to post without having to PM to receive whatever they are giving away. Unfortunately, some take ages to respond (if they ever do).

I would check the last post from the OP. If it's weeks or months ago, it's safe to say it's a dead thread.

Get your posts up to 25 and you'll be able to send PMs.

Alright, thank you all for your advice, i will proceed as instructed :)

How do i mark my Post as Closed/Solved?

You need to be at least L33t to self-close your own threads. A mod will close this soon ?
