

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: The Roger Ver Local Bitcoin

Omniscient - August 1, 2019, 11:33 am

<https://local.bitcoin.com/>

Anyone see this yet?

4158996621556 - August 1, 2019, 11:36 am

wait,
what?

no kyc at ALL? what about limits? so someone with 10 million $ in BCH could just sell it and get paid on ALL of those payment methods, with NO KYC AT ALL?

if so then honestly this is fucking AMAZING.

edit: i just signed up and realized it aint "automatic", its basically just localbitcoins but for bitcoin cash...?

Almonds - August 1, 2019, 12:27 pm

Good, while it lasts!

I signed up, and setup an offer as I need an exchange currently.

We will have to wait and see.

SIM-3871390 - August 1, 2019, 12:45 pm

Interesting to see whats gonna happen without KYC

Swip3r - August 1, 2019, 12:55 pm

(Aug 1, 2019 11:36 AM)HackingDoge Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) wait,
what?

no kyc at ALL? what about limits? so someone with 10 million $ in BCH could just sell it and get paid on ALL of those payment methods, with NO KYC AT ALL?

if so then honestly this is fugging AMAZING.

edit: i just signed up and realized it aint "automatic", its basically just localbitcoins but for bitcoin cash...?

LCB* still requires ID

This would be cool if it works.

grady - August 1, 2019, 12:56 pm

hosted in the caribbean

Imfao

evilgnome - August 1, 2019, 1:27 pm

It's fucking amazing, especially after LocalBitcoins totally removed cash-in-person offerings. I have some offers on there already though sadly nobody has taken me up on any yet.

TristanLec - August 1, 2019, 3:14 pm

Interesting... I just saw blockchain is also launching a new exchange. Seems like exchanges are popping up left and right.

shreder - August 1, 2019, 3:43 pm

I'm going to sell BTC on it :)

BiggerCock - August 1, 2019, 3:53 pm

pretty useless as of now if only accepts btc cash as coin is pure trash

evilgnome - August 1, 2019, 4:05 pm

(Aug 1, 2019 03:53 PM)BiggerCock Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) pretty useless as of now if only accepts btc cash as coin is pure trash

Bitcoin Cash / BCH, and no, not really. But I really think they should accept more cryptocurrencies for sure, especially Bitcoin.

Kill Joy - August 1, 2019, 6:46 pm

(Aug 1, 2019 04:05 PM)evilgnome Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Bitcoin Cash / BCH, and no, not really. But I really think they should accept more cryptocurrencies for sure, especially Bitcoin.

You don't know Roger Ver very well then.

Spaark - August 1, 2019, 7:44 pm

God I hope this works out. Governments need to get their hands off bitcoin.

Discord bot - August 2, 2019, 10:02 am

(Aug 1, 2019 07:44 PM)Spaark Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) God I hope this works out. Governments need to get their hands off bitcoin.

Kyc has existed for a while why do you dislike it?

(Aug 1, 2019 11:36 AM)HackingDoge Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) wait, what?

no kyc at ALL? what about limits? so someone with 10 million $ in BCH could just sell it and get paid on ALL of those payment methods, with NO KYC AT ALL?

if so then honestly this is fugging AMAZING.

edit: i just signed up and realized it aint "automatic", its basically just localbitcoins but for bitcoin cash...?

Why is that amazing?

Omniscient - August 2, 2019, 12:29 pm

(Aug 2, 2019 10:02 AM)fountainhead Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Kyc has existed for a while why do you dislike it?

Why is that amazing?

KYC/AML = Regulation and government interference. You gotta be a real idiot to ask someone why they dislike it.

btw, your question is IMMENSE disrespect to Ayn Rand. Do you NOT understand her message? And this assumes you even know that your username is a book title of hers.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Fountainhead

CapitalGainz97 - August 2, 2019, 12:47 pm

(Aug 2, 2019 12:29 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) KYC/AML = Regulation and government interference. You gotta be a real idiot to ask someone why they dislike it.

btw, your question is IMMENSE disrespect to Ayn Rand. Do you NOT understand her message? And this assumes you even know that your username is a book title of hers.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Fountainhead

Let's see how this plays out. Roger ver has already invested money with Blockchain(dot)com only to try & lure poor fellas into the XMR thing after ID verification. My take is that KYC should be around for anyone wanting to go through the process. You might say it's an easier way to trust while others prefer to go the other & harder way of building their business step by step on the anonymous side. In any case the original LBC sucks huge these days. ???

Discord bot - August 2, 2019, 1:35 pm

(Aug 2, 2019 12:29 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) KYC/AML = Regulation and government interference. You gotta be a real idiot to ask someone why they dislike it.

btw, your question is IMMENSE disrespect to Ayn Rand. Do you NOT understand her message? And this assumes you even know that your username is a book title of hers.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Fountainhead

I do know what KYC stands for yes. If your only argument towards KYC or AML is that you dislike government interference you're probably just dogmatic towards libertarianism and blind to the very probably shortcomings of it (and any other pure philosophy e.g. socialism, capitalism, communism, etc). However if someone has specific points to why they did or not not agree with some aspect of KYC then we could surely have a conversation regarding it.

I do know what fountainhead is, yes thank you. I also am not trying to blind my argument for the sake of a person who died 40 years ago and never had any comprehension of digital currency. I do understand her message yes, that doesn't mean I blindly agree with her economic views simply because she had appealing work towards individualism or objectivism. Most children involved in any form of business find her work interesting at some point, but it is nothing more than fictional writing to shed light on a single philosophical view.

If you'd like to talk specifics on KYC i'm all ears. I don't really understand your distaste towards government given HackForums' history in willful support towards government requests, that seems a bit queer when I'm forced to work with KYC in the financial industry and don't turn around and shit on them the next day.

Omniscient - August 2, 2019, 4:41 pm

Quote:I don't really understand your distaste towards government given HackForums' history in willful support towards government requests You'll never post on HF again.

Spaark - August 2, 2019, 6:01 pm

(Aug 2, 2019 01:35 PM)fountainhead Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If you'd like to talk specifics on KYC i'm all ears. I don't really understand your distaste towards government given HackForums' history in willful support towards government requests, that seems a bit queer when I'm forced to work with KYC in the financial industry and don't turn around and shit on them the next day.

You can work with something and dislike it. That's half the job for most people.

I don't think Bitcoin was developed to be something that's regulated. If you wanted your money tied to you, you'd have just used a bank.

edit: oh f*ck you cant respond to me. nvm then.

ririki - August 2, 2019, 11:17 pm

(Aug 1, 2019 12:55 PM)Swip3r Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) LCB* still requires ID

This would be cool if it works.

It doesn't.

The sellers do but not everyone.

CyberError - August 2, 2019, 11:18 pm

i use <https://localbitcoins.com/> , and i dont think it does ask for any kyc too

Silent Uprising - August 3, 2019, 7:49 am

How do I select a location for selling Bitcoin cash in hand. Like can I pick a city or only United States?

Swip3r - August 3, 2019, 2:30 pm

(Aug 2, 2019 11:17 PM)ririki Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It doesn't.

The sellers do but not everyone.

? I've bought over $100k of BTC lol yes it does.

Maybe the sellers require the buyers to verify themselves, regardless if that is the case then the trusted majority require it.

StrikerICA - October 6, 2019, 4:48 am

Does this really work ? Localbitcoin sucks sometimes and their support too.