Thread: NINJA LEAVES TWITCH

DrRespect - August 1, 2019, 1:06 pm

Ninja left Twitch for Mixer, this is a battle between Microsoft and Amazon as Mixer is owned by Microsoft and Twitch is owned by Amazon.

Twitch has removed Ninja's verification badge.

This brings more competition in between live streaming services.

I feel like gaming streams will die out over the next 5 years anyway.

yeah you're very wrong about that

5oak - August 5, 2019, 12:19 am

News and happenings LUL, like random fugging twigs on twitch are relevant in any way ?

Could pretty say the same about this thread ?

Dead Presidents - August 5, 2019, 1:05 pm

Should have gone to DLive to support blockchain.

Clearly people are interested in the story, if you took a look at twitter you'd see that it was trending.

SteezyLeff - August 5, 2019, 2:07 pm

It appears from my observations of this event that some people seem to be mad at Ninja for "betraying" Twitch. I find that really funny, seems like Twitch is being really petty by like removing his badge as you said and the subscribe button. I think that it's great that more streaming platforms are emerging, hopefully Mixer will grow as a result of Ninja moving there.

Mixer offered him a better deal.

DrRespect - August 18, 2020, 8:02 am

Update: He's back on Twitch.

Aeowulf - August 18, 2020, 9:07 am

...and a year later Mixer is dead. Of course he goes back to Twitch.

I think Twitch always win. For the moment.

Honestly I wasn't a fan of the guy. At least he's bringing recognition to a platform besides Twitch.

He came back to Twitch.

He's a good player but terrible person. The most entertaining thing about him are probably donations he's getting lol.

Prepper - August 20, 2020, 1:20 pm

You know I was actually really interested in Mixer especially considering that I may be switching to Xbox Series S/X from Playstation.

I don't know how I feel about this new facebook stuff they are doing. I wonder if Xbox will have a Twitch option built in?.

Money Man - August 21, 2020, 9:40 pm didnt ninja get paid like 30m for streaming on mixer?

fkin win m8 lol

Yes. Estimates are $20M to $30M. Mixer was a decent dent to Microsoft's wallet.

I don't think he is a terrible person. Losing a huge part of his following due to lack of interest probably got him. He acted weird in the beginning but I think he's ok now.

Exodus™ - August 23, 2020, 1:16 am

Twitch will never die, for sure not if ninja leaves xD

Rank1Player - August 23, 2020, 7:12 am

I don't think Mixer can get over Twitch. Microsoft should focus on obtaining Tik Tok better

Bob the Builder - September 20, 2020, 10:42 am

Ninja left Twitch because his brand was too big for gaming. Tyler "Ninja" Blevins' surprising departure from Twitch came after months of feeling like the company didn't respect his wishes and hindered his ability to grow outside of gaming.
