Thread: Refunding money for not working method = Guarantee for success ?

mitagatasl1998 - August 2, 2019, 12:13 am

I am exploring HF everyday and I can see a bunch of money making methods that cost $$.

Some cost from 20 to 40 $ but others more than 70 even more 100 $, so what's the point:

I mean offering REFUNDING money back is the best proof that your method is 100% working and there is nothing to worry about ...

Maybe any of the higher rank members gona decline, but why ?If your method is legit and 100% working, you won't worry to offer REFUND!

Remember it doesn't matter Newbie, Member or whatever rank you are, we are all the same behind the monitor and noone want to waste his money!

I am waiting for your opinions! ?

Well, for a start, no money making method can be guaranteed. Secondly, the only people making money from these "methods", is those selling the ebooks.

Okay, I agree with your Seconly sentence, but take a look over the bigger part of threads..Looking really promising and guaranteed, like there is no way to fail with it.Yeah I know the marketing is very important and I am not blaming anyone just saying my opinion! ?

Offering Refund actually helps the customers know they can trust they seller. Their method might not turn out as Advertised so this case a Refund would be needed

Exactly mate you got me! And anything else I forgot to write is, (personally for me) offering a REFUND is the biggest guarantee and this is the best way convincing me to buy the method if you combine it with a nice looking thread, you are the one! ?

Check for their 'refund policies' brother. 99.9% chance you will have to prove you attempted all the methods (they will probably give you 10+ methods) so right there you will have to document yourself attempting all of them. Secondly, they all have time policies, meaning you will have to wait like 30 days before you claim a refund.

This works for the seller because:

- a) You will not attempt all the methods
- b) You will probably not bother waiting 30-60 days to get your $20 back
- c) It is at the sellers discretion to decide if you have actually 'attempted' the methods or not and they can decline your refund

I won't take anyone's side but some buyers use shitty practices by claiming the method doesn't work and they want a refund. It sucks on Seller's part.

Anyhow all the money making methods selling for 20-30$ are mostly bullshit. Look for mentorship, it is still safer than those ebooks.

Please READ THEIR TERMS OF SERVICE.

This is just LOOPHOLE. The Refund Option is only in very rare occasions.

Explained....

I can read THEIR terms of service, I am just giving opinion what makes the buyer feel reliable to buy the method. Everyone is free to offer his own "Terms of Service", but anyway there are members that offer refund from the beggining. And yes ofcourse, If you want refund you have to proof that the method is tried and it really doesn't work...Abusing with REFUNDS is another subject.

Well i have bought an ebook once on here and im satisfied with paying 40$ if i can make the 40$ back fast, with the methods I made it back within 24 hours.

However the seller also provided a "Refund option" but 1 of the methods required you to invest money, so the condition were you need to try all the methods but as 1 of them was investing a bit of money i think a lot of users would not do that and wont be eligible for a refund,

You're right too and I can see something that is nice, lot of the sellers warn if the method need any additional investment.

Everything is alright, no problem!

Most people buy ebooks thinking they're gonna get rich overnight without putting in the work.

And unfortunately, these people don't want to work so they look for the easy way out i.e ask for a refund.

Exactly.

If i'm making $200 a day doing nothing, why would I sell it to you for $10?

This exactly. Most buyers get bullshitted about refunds and end up not bothering as only a scummy HF E-Book seller would fight over $20

Like everything else there are shitty buyers and sellers both you know, but you're right I can understand the both sides!The only thing I meant is that you have to be honest with your buyers, not just selling something that doesn't work and be like "Ho-ho I fogged em up and took their money, I don't care that they won't earn money from the E-Book". ?

Ivex - August 2, 2019, 7:29 am

Definitely not buying another ebook after recent experiences. Did once buy one for $20 that got me into CPA and then I found my own method and made a lot.

This is why my eBook is so cheap. Because it's information about how I managed to get to where I got when I was doing CPA. It's ideas, niches, marketing techniques. But it's not a step by step to success because I don't believe there's many methods in the world you can follow a 1,2,3 and make a lot.
