Thread: Best way to pull fucking boats of bots on QBOT?

solarsx - August 4, 2019, 1:05 am

I am sitting here on ZMAP for 2 hours only to pull about 2 bots lol.

What is the best way to scan bots for QBOT? Anything but ZMAP.

Qwickload - August 4, 2019, 1:39 am

I would recommend finding a private source that is regularly updated, then use exploits to scan massbots with ipblocks

Maybe trying a .lst file on zmap would pull better bots.

Or you are using a possibly terrible, leaked, free client.c on the qbot yeah like the user up said gg :) :) :)

mrjammy - September 9, 2019, 7:36 pm

Try echo loadin your bins :)

and don't use a public client.c.

flood089 - September 12, 2019, 1:22 pm

Other public sources working as well (but their attacks are outdated (hex)), i mean for Qbot u are loading SSH (port:22) bots if u have hybrid than take scare of scanner.c just add more password etc.

Try using shodan to look for open SSH ports on ip than scans for whole ip block save blocks into and .lst file than just zmap-it all IPS than just run bruter ./update 1500 (2500, 15000). After that u will get vuln.txt but CARE there is DUPPED bots inside than just run this command into your server: cat vuln.txt | grep -v DUP >vuln that will cut only clean SSH bruted ips, than just user .py or perl script to pull bots on your net (edit those scripts with your payload) and you are good to go!

If u need any help withit @Esegovic (Telegram) feel free to leave message, there is lot of YouTube videos how you can do it!

Best Regards,

An alternative exploit might to the job; so long as its port specific

flood089 - September 12, 2019, 8:47 pm

There is some exploits like Huawei (Old but still puls), GPON, Realtek etc.

Just use google and im sure u ll get it fast :D
