Giveaway

So I would like to introduce TradersHub to the community of HF and can't wait to see the response I get. This is the first forum I have ran in about 2 years so I am a bit rusty and learning a lot of things again. :) The theme is currently being worked on as it was a free theme obtained through the MYBB forum.

My mission is to bring a safe marketplace and a bunch of different things to keep members happy such as points (Things to spend points on, seen this on a couple forums but they there is some terrible rewards). I'm looking for a few MIDDLEMANS as well, to keep safe transaction on the forums.

If there is any sections such as like the MC/RS one then feel free to let me know and I will get round to adding it depending on if I accept the request.

I'm currently waiting on a PAID LOGO and THREAD DESIGN, so don't think I'm trying to do this the easy way haha, I have spent a little bit on the forum already but since I already have experience with MYBB I don't really to invest as much as some would at the beginning as I know ways of advertising etc, I'm trying to keep the forum small at the moment just build some threads/posts and a little community.

The name is not bad, simple & easy to remember. One thing you should do which is quite simple (and free) is add SSL certificate to your site. (Any good host should have a simple 1 click install via the control panel.)

The theme itself is good for the most part, however the purple kinda hurts my eyes, in my opinion a lighter purple may help (unless its just me) It's good to see you're investing money towards the site, for the most part means your serious (Forums are a hard task get up and running as well as keep active, investing money into it somewhat motivates you to not give up.)

Goodluck with the community, hope to see it active.

I really like your response! I've just done the SSL and have got the lock next to my domain now.

I'm going to look at editing the colours and see what I can come up with :) Thank you so much for your reply.

Good luck with your forum, I agree with the user above, that shade of purple hurts my eyes a little bit. I would go for a softer tone for that.

I've tried to register on your forum but I don't receive activation mail on my email.

As said by above users, the purple literally kills my eyes but still I want to have a go with your forum.

I have just confirmed the account for you.

Also, I have just changed the colours for the site, let me know if you can see the them.

The purple was lighten, and it was all fine but you messed other text colors.

Edit: I saw the change but the board description isn't yet visible.

Too many trading forums IMO. People are always gonna choose the already established ones.

Got myself removed from replying to threads for like a week because I'm stupid haha.

Anyhow the forum is still live and I've done so more work to the theme etc, I'm currently trying to find some sections to add to the MARKET.

Come and join the 14 members who are currently signed up :) We are a small growing community with little activity at the moment. The forums is being worked on everyday as I'm still learning to code etc.

Find any issues feel free to contact me or make a thread on the forum. I have a giveaway that I'm doing at 100 registered members.

Today I noticed that the theme I was using wasn't mobile friendly so I went ahead and got a new theme and obviously worked on it all day, I just about finished with it.

Changed theme once again but definitely sticking with this one until I purchase a custom one. It is a premium theme that I did purchase.

The giveaway is still active and hopefully we can gain some activity. ;) I'm not in no rush.

hot.drop - August 16, 2019, 10:38 am

Website is still going strong! Will 100% be purchasing a custom theme this week.
