Thread: Who Would Be Interested In Sneaker Investing?

wraxu - August 5, 2019, 8:45 am

Sneaker investing is one of the BEST commodities to invest in.

Some sneakers grow over 1000% a year and the safer investments can still give returns of 100-200%.

This involves buying sneakers for resale (or retail ofc if possible!) and selling them later on.

This can easily be done from sites like stockx.com and goat.com

Would anyone be interested in a paid group giving advice on the best sneakers to buy and invest in?

It can be extremely lucrative.

Never heard of those 2 sites you mentioned but most people i know use a bot to snatch up the new limited edition shoes on release and then resell them later.

SteezyLeff - August 5, 2019, 9:13 am

This looks interesting. I was initially turned off from this as there are some rather annoying kids at my school who do this, but I'll give it some consideration. I do like money, but I've never been too interested in clothing and fashion type stuff.

630 has the best collection I've seen on HF, not sure if he still had them all now but definitely he has thousands of dollars worth of shoes

Practically any yeezy release is going going to make you money. So long as they're 350s and aren't the creams.

One word,

Restocks.

Also, Creams were an amazing investment in bae sizes (4-6.5) when they were almost at retail following the massive 1 million pair restock.

I made thousands of those.

Cook groups are useless by experience, you need a $2k+ bot to be able to cop, no?

Clearly you were in the wrong cook groups.

Answer is no chief, my friend made over $900 in the first 6 days of this month with his hands only (with a few hours work MAX).

But obviously bots can be extremely helpful.

You want to open a new cook group or would you give us access to the groups if we pay you?

I'd feel safer in investing my money in a findom ewhore on twitter.

I would gladly take your money.

I was thinking about going into the sneaker game. I subscribe to a few hypebeasts on Youtube and they make it look lucrative.

luke - August 9, 2019, 3:38 pm

these already exist. you can join a pretty good cook group for $15 and be sorted for information.

99% of cook groups are not made for sneaker investing.

they are made for buying sneakers/clothing for retail.

I am in 6 paid cook groups, I can assure you this is a different market.

Yes, the largest platform to sell sneakers (StockX) is a unicorn now (worth over $1bn).
