

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Mysterious bug

Casads - August 5, 2019, 9:59 am

Hey posters I just woke up and when I looked over to my left and see 3 green clear winged bugs on my pillow dead. I did some research and the only thing I could find are the green lacewing which doesn't fit the appearance of these buggers

Spoiler (Click to View)

Dead Presidents - August 5, 2019, 10:05 am

Its a CIA operated spy bug that fell out of your ear while you were asleep.

Spoiler (Click to View)JK i don't know what it is but that's one ugly MOFO

Casads - August 5, 2019, 10:10 am

(Aug 5, 2019 10:05 AM)Dead Presidents Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Its a CIA operated spy bug that fell out of your ear while you were asleep.

Spoiler (Click to View)JK i don't know what it is but that's one ugly MOFO
Yeah ugly fuckers and they must be operated I can't find anything on google
#osamawasalie

debian - August 5, 2019, 11:00 am

It's a small piece of technology designed to look like a bug. Probably just the regular - brainwave energy siphon and camera and whatnot

Kroh - August 5, 2019, 11:57 am

Literally just a dead Green Clearwing Dragonfly. And not a very old one either, still a fucking baby!

MavenGradle - August 30, 2019, 3:39 pm

They might have died from sweet sweet morning breath. God, sometimes I really don't miss having a girlfriend and I'm thankful for olfactory adaptation.

One - August 31, 2019, 1:22 am

(Aug 30, 2019 03:39 PM)MavenGradle Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They might have died from sweet sweet morning breath. God, sometimes I really don't miss having a girlfriend and I'm thankful for olfactory adaptation.

On God haha morning breath did this