

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Clickbank landing page on fb?

Abradolf Lincler - August 5, 2019, 1:46 pm

I'm starting my fb ad soon using my website + landing page, can you guys give me any tips or is there anything i should watch out when advertising on fb?

- Can I redirect my visitor to the clickbank sale page after their email opt in? (important, will i get my ad account banned? want to know this)
- Can I have clickbank link on my website?
- etc etc

ÇdnîS Lu?i? - August 5, 2019, 5:17 pm

Your best bet is to buy cheap hosting and domain which you can get both for around 10$ and make your landing page look official.

Abradolf Lincler - August 5, 2019, 6:39 pm

(Aug 5, 2019 05:17 PM)ÇdnîS Lu?i? Wrote: CITE Your best bet is to buy cheap hosting and domain which you can get both for around 10$ and make your landing page look official.

Thanks for the advice, i got my domain and hosting from Godaddy and bought genesis theme, the website looks even more official than the original vendor page (with new logo pricing, about us, contact us, live chat, t&c, privacy policy)

basically this is what i do:

fb >> landing page >> pricing page >> direct to vendor check out page