Thread: Fixed footer on large res monitors

Xen - August 13, 2019, 7:25 am

Hello all,

I don't know if this is known or not but on larger resolution monitors (In my case 2K) the footer on pages with low amounts of subforums i.e. all of them excluding Hack and Market the footer doesn't stay on the bottom of the screen.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

It's nothing serious it's just there and sometimes looks a bit odd when switching through the different tabs.

(I've tried refreshing my .css files also)

That's how it looks. Not really something we can do about it.

With some extra stuff, Code position: absolute may work.

just make a user inject script and add it yourself. not everyone needs it so its not important

Oh, I finally see what you mean. Yeah, we can fix that with a CSS change. My bad. Sometimes I'm just too tired.
